Duke of Gloucester To Wed Daughter of Duke of Buccleuch

Engagement of Third Son of King and Queen to Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott Announced

DUKE SERVES WITH REGIMENT

Associated Press

London, Aug. 29. — The engagement of the Duke of Gloucester, third son of the King and Queen, to Lady Alice Montagu - Douglas-Scott, was announced today.

The duke, thirty-five years old, is the tall, strapping soldier of the royal family.

Lady Alice is the thirty-three-year-old daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch and Queensberry.

SEEN IN PUBLIC

The engaged couple have been close friends for some months and often have been seen dancing together in London's west end when the duke has been on leave from his regiment.

It is just one day over a year since the engagement of the Duke of Kent, youngest son of the King and Queen, and Princess Marina of Greece was announced, and the marriage of the Duke of Gloucester will leave King George and Queen Mary with only one bachelor son—the Prince of Wales.

BROTHERS INFORMED

The news of the engagement was sent to the Prince of Wales on holiday at Cannes and to the Duke and Duchess of Kent, who are at Bled, Jugoslavia.

The Duke of Gloucester traveled today to Balmoral Castle with the Queen, where they joined King George. He is a captain in the army and, like his granduncle, the Duke of Connaught, has decided to make the army his career.

Queen's Death Is Mourned in Belgium and Throughout Europe

Queen Astrid of the Belgians, left, who lost her life to-day, was in her thirtieth year. King Leopold, above, and three children mourn the loss of wife and mother.

Astrid Killed When Car Driven By King Leopold In Switzerland Hits Tree

Queen Dies Without Regaining Consciousness After Crash on Lake Road Near Kussnacht; King Suffers Cuts and Bruises; Accident Result of King Taking Eyes Off Road to Glance at Map Held by Queen

Associated Press

Lucerne, Switzerland, Aug. 29.—Astrid, beautiful young Queen of the Belgians, was killed to-day when an automobile driven by her husband, King Leopold, went off the road and hit a tree.

The King suffered cuts and bruises but was not badly injured.

Able to talk later, Leopold told members of his entourage he had taken his eyes off the road to glance at a map the Queen was holding.

The Queen was sitting in the front seat beside him with the chauffeur in the rear of the car.

"I leaned over to look at the map," the members of the party said the King told them. "It lasted only a second, and when I looked again at the road, the car was almost on top of a tree."

The King said both he and the Queen were thrown out of the car at the first shock and that the Queen's head struck the tree, her skull being fractured.

The young royal couple—she was twenty-nine years old and he is thirty-three—were driving down the pleasant road near Kussnacht, beside Lake Vier Waldstatter See, when the accident happened. The speed of the car was estimated at between fifty and fifty-five miles an hour on the comparatively straight and broad road.

CAR IN LAKE

The royal attendants said the king's automobile rebounded, struck a tree, then hurtled into the lake with the chauffeur still inside.

The latter climbed out and waded ashore with only minor cuts.

The attendants, whose car was about one minute behind the royal couple, found the king and queen lying by the side of the road.

UNABLE TO SPEAK

After the crash the queen lay motionless. The king, his face smeared with blood, went to his wife's side, gathered her in his arms, kissed her and implored her to speak, but she barely moved.

It was impossible to tell if she recognized her husband. Within five minutes she had died, in his arms.

The tragedy struck at about 11.30 a.m.

LEWIS STONE ARRIVES HERE

Veteran Hollywood Actor Brings Yacht Into Port After Alaska Cruise

Lewis Stone, who has been identified with the films since 1915 and is one of the best-known veterans of the motion picture industry, is the newest member of the Hollywood colony to be attracted to Victoria and Vancouver Island.

The distinguished actor arrived here at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon aboard his palatial yacht, La Serena, and fetched alongside a mooring in the inner harbor.

With a party of friends, Mr. Stone is returning to Hollywood after cruising to northern British Columbia and Alaska. He explained that he wanted to see something of Victoria, of which city he had heard many pleasant things said by his friends, before getting back to work in the Hollywood studios.

The grey-haired actor is under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and one of his outstanding successes was in "Sorrel and Son."

He has played leading roles in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet," "Strictly Dishonorable," "The Wet Parade," "After All," "The Night Court" and "Mata Hari."

He has starred on the stage in New York and also in the Belasco Theatre in Los Angeles.

Yachting is the real hobby of Mr. Stone when he gets a break from the set and he admits to having had some exhilarating voyages on the La Serena.

The La Serena is a magnificent auxiliary sailing yacht, with 125-ft. masts and luxuriously fitted. After loafing around the Alaska coast, Mr. Stone and his friends put into Vancouver and left the mainland port at 2 o'clock this morning for Victoria.

Only a short stay will be made here as the actor is anxious to get back to Hollywood to again face the camera.

Zero Hour Approaches in Italian-East African Dispute; Britain Not to Act As Lone Policeman

Canadian Press from Havas

London, Aug. 29.—Declaration of friendship for Great Britain made by Premier Mussolini at Bolzano yesterday, while welcomed in government circles here to-day, was regarded as effecting no material change in the Italo-Ethiopian situation.

The government has formulated the stand it will take before the League of Nations Council session next Wednesday, and is awaiting developments. Evidence that no material change in the situation is expected until then was seen in departure of key personages from London to continue their interrupted vacations abroad.

A report that Prime Minister Baldwin, taking the cure at Aix-les-Bains, France, would curtail his holiday to return here received official denial.

Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, Minister for League Affairs, will leave for Geneva next Monday, with a stop-off at Paris, where he will confer with Premier Laval.

George Bernard Scott, Prisoner Who Escaped From Jubilee Hospital, Alleges Constable T. Stevenson Handled Him Roughly

Charges that Constable Thomas Stevenson was drunk and treated him abusively while he was handcuffed were hurled across the city police courtroom this morning by George Bernard Scott, charged with the theft of a suit from the Jubilee Hospital when he escaped Monday morning.

Scott alleged the constable "beat me up to unconsciousness while the handcuffs were on me" and requested a remand until to-morrow morning when he said he would call members of the police force as witnesses to bear out his allegations.

He proposed to call Detective William Stark, Sergeant Sid Wilkinson, Detective B. Acreman and Constable Ed Sturrock, whom he told the court witnessed a beating which he received from Constable Stevenson in the charge office.

TO CALL WITNESS

In the witness box Constable Stevenson admitted "roughing up" the accused when he was trying to put handcuffs on him but denied he had struck him after he was handcuffed and in the charge office. Other officers in the charge office would bear this out, he said.

Edmonton, Aug. 29.—William Aberhart, the Calgary school teacher who in a few days will head the first Social Credit government in the world, paid his respects to Lieutenant-Governor Walsh of Alberta, to-day, a short time after his arrival from Calgary. They spent half an hour in informal conversation.

Mr. Aberhart was scheduled to meet Premier Reid later in the day and discuss financial problems with him. Earlier in the week, because of a run by depositors, the provincial treasury suspended temporarily payments on savings certificates. The ban still continues and will not be lifted until the Aberhart government assumes power September 3.

Premier Reid resigned two days after his United Farm Party had been swept from office in the provincial election and Mr. Aberhart will face no difficulty in taking over office.

Canada To Have Borstal System

Training of Youthful Delinquents Along British Lines Will Be Inaugurated in One of Canada's Penitentiaries September 1, and Extended Later

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—A system of training youthful delinquents similar to the Borstal system in the United Kingdom will be inaugurated in one of the penal institutions of Canada September 1, it was learned here to-day.

Within four years it is hoped to develop plans embracing the whole Dominion so far as Borstal training is concerned.

"If we are given one year for every ten years of experimentation in Borstal training carried on by the United Kingdom we shall be able to evolve a satisfactory system," declared one high government official here to-day. "The Borstal system has been in vogue in Great Britain for forty years and new methods are continuing to emerge."

In Canadian penitentiaries there were 221 young men between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one. It is with a proportion of these that the training system will start.

British Decide On Course at League's Ethiopia Session

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Aug. 29.—The zero hour approaches in the Italo-Ethiopian quarrel with all its uncertain repercussions.

As a last-minute effort for peace, Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, Minister for League of Nations Affairs, at Geneva next week will endeavor to secure reconsideration of the peace offer made by Britan and France but rejected by Italy during the tri-power conference in Paris. That offer covered economic and administrative and security concessions by Ethiopia to Italy. Security was to have been ensured by foreign co-operation in establishing forces to secure order in the frontiers.

ITALY'S DEMANDS

Mussolini considered this offer inadequate. His present demands are first, cession to Italy of all lowland Ethiopia; second, the right to settle Italian surplus population in Ethiopia and develop her natural resources; third, an Italian military protectorate over the territory remaining under Ethiopian sovereignty.

Yet while Britain is still striving for an agreed settlement hopes for peace are steadily growing dimmer. The position of the British Government remains as stated by Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare in the House of Commons on July 11. "As things are now and as long as there is an effective League and system of collective security, we are ready and willing to take our full share of collective responsibility. And when I say collective responsibility I mean collective responsibility," he declared on that occasion.

Otherwise expressed, Britain is ready to stand by any pledges she has given under the covenant of the League of Nations. But she is not prepared to act as a lone policeman.

BEYOND AFRICA

"Britain," said The London Daily Express to-day, "will not go further than asking sanctions. Laval will arrange for the answer of the League powers to be 'No.' But the consequences of another League failure to avert war are likely to stretch far beyond East Africa.

"Sir Samuel takes the ground that if the League becomes so feeble and futile as to have no real influence on the course of events the old system of alliances must necessarily reappear with their ancient disquiets and intrigues."

END OF OBLIGATIONS

The London News-Chronicle, one of the strongest advocates of the League, urges that if the system of collective guarantees against aggressive war is to go by the board then Britain will rightly wash her hands of all existing commitments abroad.

"Our pledges to our neighbors under the Locarno Pact hold good only as an integral part of our obligations as a member of the League," the newspaper declared. "If the League system is finally proved to be an empty sham then Britain's policy will be confined rightly to protection of her own security."

"The only sane policy for Britain is to get out of the League now and re-arm," says The London Daily Mail. And the campaign for a bigger navy gathers increasing speed.

Addis Ababa, Aug. 29 (Associated Press)—One of the highest government officials stated to-day Ethiopia had not ordered any munitions from Japan and did not expect to order any. He further stated there were no Japanese exploiters here seeking cotton-growing and other concessions.

BRITISH FLEET SAILS

Associated Press

Valetta, Malta, Aug. 29. — The British Mediterranean fleet, led by its Commander-in-Chief, Admiral Sir W. W. Fisher, aboard the flagship Resolute, sailed to-day on what is officially labelled its "second summer cruise," which is taking the ships to strategic locations in a semi-circle around the Suez Canal.

The Resolute headed for Port Said, Egypt, where it is due Monday. Present plans call for the ship to remain there until September 20.

The battleship Revenge is going to Alexandria and then will head for Port Said, where she is scheduled to arrive September 21, and remain in port until September 30.

Addis Ababa, Aug. 29.—In anticipation of Italian air raids, the German legation here to-day started building bombproof shelters at the legation compound. It was expected other legations would follow its example.

The manager of the Addis Ababa-Djibouti Railway, French owned, has ordered all employees here to send their wives and children to Djibouti Sunday.

PRIESTS VOLUNTEER

It was reported from the interior that priests, heretofore exempt from military service, had volunteered to Emperor Haile Selassie to go to the front, considering war against Italy a holy crusade. At the Battle of Adua, forty years ago, priests fought with spears.

Slowly losing faith in Geneva, the Emperor prayed for victory on the field of battle.

"If it is God's will that we must try our souls against the Italians, let us pray in sadness for victory," he said. "He shall not fail us."

RAINY SEASON NEAR END

With the rainy season nearing its end, nobody knows when the threatened hostilities will break out. The Emperor himself, it was learned, will signal the start of the war.

Attired in his imperial robes with a lion skin cape and a golden crown fringed with a lion's mane, the Emperor will proceed through the streets of the capital.

"All men who possess their manhood, follow me," the Emperor will cry—and hill fires and drums will flash the word throughout his mountain kingdom.

Two trainloads of Ethiopian soldiers will leave Addis Ababa Sunday for an unknown destination, presumably to reinforce the Emperor's frontier.

Desertion of several thousand Somali tribesmen with machine guns from the Italian army in Ogaden was confirmed to-day by an Austrian commander of Ethiopian troops in Gerlogubi.

SCANDINAVIAN EFFORT

Canadian Press from Havas

Oslo, Aug. 29. — An official announcement from the conference of foreign ministers of the Scandinavian bloc now being held here to-day declared concerted support for solution of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute under the terms of the League of Nations Covenant had been agreed on.

The ministers also had decided to bend every effort toward maintaining peace in accordance with the principles of international justice and have concluded that all their governments would follow Norway's announced policy regarding disposition of political refugees from other countries.

Edmonton's Big Finance Burden

Edmonton, Aug. 29.—With a current bank overdraft of $830,000, and an outstanding floating debt to the federal government of $1,250,000, Edmonton's finances should be the subject of an investigation by the city council, in the opinion of Mayor Clarke, who commented on the announcement of Mayor Davison yesterday that Calgary was appealing direct to the federal government for financial aid.

Mayor Davison earlier had said Calgary would have to default before the end of the year unless aid was forthcoming from the provincial or federal government.

Mayor Clarke said: "Calgary should be in a better position than Edmonton with a bigger federal programme and a much smaller debt.

"Edmonton is faced with a cash shortage of $900,000 this year, even if there is a 100 per cent tax collection, which is most unlikely, and financial assistance must be forthcoming from somewhere," he added.

"Last year we had a book surplus of $100,000 but a cash deficit of $650,000, and cash is what counts just now," he said.

No Arms From Japan to Ethiopia

Tokio, Aug. 29.—A government spokesman to-day denied Japanese munitions had been shipped to Ethiopia and insisted there was no indication of plane for future shipments. Inquiries in authoritative military and industrial quarters supported the spokesman's denial.

He deprecated an Italian suggestion Japan was sympathetic to Italy's Ethiopian policy.

Britain Mourns With Belgium

Death of Queen Astrid Widely Regretted in the United Kingdom

Associated Press

London, Aug. 29. — Great Britain was profoundly saddened to-day by the sudden death of Queen Astrid of the Belgians.

King George, in residence at Balmoral, was immediately informed. Queen Mary was en route from London to Balmoral to join him.

Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, also vacationing in Scotland, expressed her deep grief through her aide-de-camp.

King Leopold is well known in Great Britain, having been educated at Eton, where he formed a strong friendship with the Duke of Gloucester, third son of King George and Queen Mary.

Leopold and Astrid visited London at the end of 1933, a few weeks before Leopold was called to the throne following the accidental death of King Albert.

The customary period of court mourning will be ordered.

STATEMENT BY MACDONALD

Acting Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald heard the news in Scotland, he said.

"I feel the most profound sorrow at the latest tragedy to overtake the Belgian nation. Not only for the king but for his whole people one can only feel the deepest sympathy."

BELGIAN QUEEN DIES IN AUTO CRASH

PHYSICIAN SOON THERE

Peasants nearby immediately telephoned to Kusnacht for help. A doctor arrived within five minutes after the queen had died.

Leopold kissed the dead Astrid once more, then was taken away in a doctor's car to have his wounds dressed. Afterwards he was taken to the Villa Haslihorn, to which the body of the queen later was taken in another car.

After her king had gone, the body of Astrid lay beside the tree of the crash. Still covered with the coats, it was watched for a full hour by the bareheaded members of the household, peasants, villagers and gendarmes.

At the villa, the body of the queen, in a casket, was placed on black-draped trestles. Candles were arranged and household members took up the death watch.

KING MUST REST

The king, suffering not only emotional shock but cuts and bruises, was ordered to bed by his physician.

A further investigation at the scene of the accident showed a large stone at the roadside may have been the cause. When the king looked away from the highway the car turned to the edge of the road, striking the stone.

At the spot, the road is only eight feet from the lake, and the car ran down a slight grade to the water.

CHILDREN AT LUCERNE

Astrid would have been thirty on November 17. She had been married almost nine years. The couple had been living at the villa Haslihorn, near here—where they were staying eighteen months ago when King Albert of the Belgians, Leopold's father, was killed while mountain-climbing in Belgium.

BACK TO BELGIUM

Brussels, Belgium, Aug. 29.—Premier Paul Van Zeeland left this afternoon by airplane for Basel, Switzerland, to meet the special train on which King Leopold is bringing the body of Queen Astrid back to his grief-stricken people.

Another special train was to leave here to-night for the Luxembourg frontier, there to await the Swiss train, due early to-morrow morning. The body will be brought on to Brussels on the Belgian special train.

The Premier left after a cabinet meeting at which the Queen's death in the auto accident was announced. Another cabinet meeting was called for Saturday.

CHILDREN RETURN HOME

The three royal children, Josephine Charlotte, seven; Baudoin, three, and Albert, fourteen months, arrived in Brussels this morning by train. They had left their parents in Switzerland yesterday evening, before the accident, and were not told of their mother's death.

Belgium was plunged into deepest grief for the second time in less than two years by the Queen's death near Lucerne, where she had gone with the King for a holiday.

BELGIUM MOURNS

Canadian Press

Brussels, Belgium, Aug. 29.—Tiny Belgium was plunged into deepest grief to-day for the second time in less than two years by the tragic death of Queen Astrid near Lucerne, Switzerland, where she had gone with the King for a holiday.

King Albert, the beloved ruler, who had heroically led the nation through the darkest days of the Great War, was killed while mountain climbing at Marche les Dames February 17, 1934.

A cabinet meeting was called after the news came to-day. The ministers rushed back to the capital by automobile and train. A committee of the stock exchange voted to close the Bourse until further notice.

THEATRES CLOSE

The cabinet was expected to proclaim a national period of mourning, perhaps for six months.

Reports King Leopold's condition was serious were so insistent that the chief cabinet officer issued a statement in which he said:

"The king's condition is not serious at all. He merely suffered scratches, but is unable yet to make a statement concerning exactly what happened."

QUICKLY WON POPULARITY

Queen Astrid, beautiful Swedish princess, quickly won her way into the hearts of the Belgians after she was married to Leopold, then the Belgian Crown Prince.

She spent many hours with her won hands speeding distribution of relief supplies to economic sufferers, especially among the distressed of the mining areas.

Brussels mothers frequently had seen the queen pushing a permanbulator through the public park airing the royal baby just like any commoner mother in the capital.

GESTURE OF GREETING

So beloved was the queen that the nation even copied her characteristic gesture of greeting—a wave of the hand with the knuckles outward—which has come into popular use throughout the country.

By a tragic coincidence, Astrid met her death in the country in which she and Leopold were vacationing when informed of the death of Leopold's father, King Albert.

Queen Mother Elizabeth, object of nationwide sympathy since the tragedy early last year, which broke her health, still is in Pisa, Italy, where she has been for several months, seeking to regain her strength.

Queen Astrid was the second member of the Belgian royal family to die a violent death within a little more than a year and a half.

She took the oath as Queen February 23, 1934, after King Albert, her father-in-law, had fallen to death while climbing a mountain near Hamur, Belgium.

The queen was Princess Astrid of Sweden before she was married to Leopold, then Crown Prince, on November 10, 1926.

When the time came for her enthronement, she could not participate in the ceremony because she was expecting her third child.

She is survived by this baby, a son named for King Albert, and by Princess Josephine Charlotte and Crown Prince Baudouin.

The queen was twenty-nine years of age, having been born in Stockholm November 17, 1905.

POPULAR WITH PEOPLE

King Leopold and Queen Astrid were touring the Alps at the time King Albert's tragic death occurred. They hastened to Brussels and, taking their thrones after the funeral, were widely acclaimed by a populace which loved them.

Leopold had been trained from birth to reign, and Astrid, regally raised in Sweden, took a sincere interest in the activities of her adopted land.

Their marriage was acclaimed as a true love match.

From her girlhood, Astrid was trained to many accomplishments. Slender and of medium height, she was fond of outdoor sports, was a good horsewoman, a beautiful dancer and averse to pomp and display. Her dress was always simple. She was a fair musician, with a pleasing voice.

But in her domestic accomplishments, Queen Astrid shone with the greatest brilliance. She had been trained at a school of nursing and had made a special study of what she considered an art—the business of running a household.

Princess Astrid, as she was then known, told after her betrothal how she had refused Prince Leopold three times in three weeks.

"I love him," said the princess, "but I was just afraid to become a queen."

DRIVES LOCOMOTIVES

King Leopold, thirty-three, is enthusiastic about mechanics. Like his father and younger brother, Prince Charles, Leopold can and has driven railroad locomotives. As youths, he and Prince Charles had a penchant for racing each other on motorcycles.

Queen Astrid was the daughter of Prince Carl of Sweden. Before her engagement to Leopold was announced in October, 1926, she had repeatedly been reported as about to become betrothed to the Prince of Wales and Prince Olaf of Norway.

Leopold courted her in the guise of a servant. On several of his frequent train trips to Stockholm, Leopold adopted the dress of a manservant to avoid attention.

Belgium greeted her with the greatest demonstration since the armistice was announced.

Princess Josephine Charlotte, eldest of their children, was born October 11, 1927. The heir-apparent was born three years later and Prince Albert a year ago June 6.

King Leopold's sister, Marie Jose, is Crown Princess of Italy.

MESSAGES FROM U.S.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Secretary of State Hull made a formal call at the Belgian embassy here early to-day to express to Prince Eugene de Ligne, the charge d'affaires, the condolences and sympathies of the United States in the death of Queen Astrid.

President Roosevelt and the Secretary of State also will send messages of condolence to the King of the Belgians and the Belgian government.

King Leopold of the Belgians visited the United States in the fall of 1919 with his father, the late King Albert, and his mother, Queen Elizabeth.

ITALY MOURNS

Rome, Aug. 29.—Shocked by the death of Queen Astrid of the Belgians, Italy turned immediately to Il Duce himself to break the tragic news to the Italian royal family.

A government spokesman said: "This is terrible news. The whole nation will mourn the accident deeply."

The Ministry of Press and Propaganda, first to hear of the acident, made immediate contact with Il Duce, who is conducting war manoeuvres near Bolzano under the eyes of the king. It was expected Premier Mussolini himself would tell the soldier monarch.

It was understood here the task of informing Queen Mother Elizabeth of Belgium, who has been living with the Italian royal family, would devolve on the king himself.

Elizabeth and Princess Marie Jose were reported to be in Naples to-day.

PARENTS GO TO BELGIUM

Stockholm, Aug. 29 (Associated Press)—Aging Prince Carl and Princess Ingeborg mournfully chartered an airplane to-day to fly to Lucerne, Switzerland, to join the grief-stricken husband of their daughter, Queen Astrid of the Belgians.

They were almost prostrated by the word of the automobile accident in which their daughter was killed. They regained their composure quickly, however, and it was Princess Ingeborg, herself, who asked the plane be chartered.

London, Aug. 29.—The question, "Am I willing to let my son be killed for dividends?" is one that every American woman should ask herself—and then demand instead of a system of pacts, each more absurd than the last, that a real beginning be made to remove the economic causes that make for war.

All well-meaning appeals to mothers not to let their boys be massacred are useless as long as none of the causes of war are removed.

That this looming Italo-Ethiopian conflict is purely a war of aggression for colonies and markets is an ugly fact that not even Mussolini's eloquence can gloss over. To call for high tariffs for national-self-sufficiency in one breath and to call for peace in the next is absurd.

GERMANY PROFITING

As the eyes of Great Britain and France are diverted southward, Germany is losing no time in taking advantage of this unique opportunity to consolidate the northern sphere with Nazi influence.

Adolf Hitler is at present working feverishly to include Finland in a Finnish-Polish-German bloc. When he has Finland, he will start on Austria.

I mention this since it is evident that as soon as the great powers clear up the Italo-Ethiopian imbroglio they will have to counter just as menacing a spread of Nazism in Europe, with all the threat to world peace and stability it implies.

BACKING SMITH FOR PRESIDENT

Hearst's Statement of Support For U.S. Election Proposal Causes Surprise

By SAM ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York, Aug. 29.—Political eyebrows arched to-day at the suggestion of William Randolph Hearst that Al Smith toss his brown derby into the Presidential ring.

Soon after the publisher's name had been mentioned as co-sponsor of a "Constitutional Democratic Party" to contest the United States general election next year, he issued a statement saying "I think Alfred E. Smith would make a powerful candidate" as Presidential nominee.

Smith was silent for the moment; Democratic followers of President Roosevelt were incredulous; Republicans chuckled over the prospect of a split in the Democratic vote.

SUPPORT PLEDGED

The naming of Smith as "the accredited leader of the genuine Democratic Party" was another way for Hearst to say he stands ready to throw behind the "Happy Warrior" the backing of his powerful newspaper chain.

It also meant Hearst was willing to submerge an historic political enmity with Smith for the sake of attempting to oust Roosevelt and his New Dealers (raw dealers in Hearstian headlines) from Washington.

THWARTED HEARST

In dim 1909, when the publisher sought the nomination for New York governor, Smith with his grip on Tammany Hall thwarted him. Again in 1922, when Smith went to the governor's mansion, he would not hear of Hearst's name being placed on the Democratic ticket for United States senator.

That was the reason New Deal Democrats scratched their heads in amazement when Hearst made public his statement yesterday evening, saying:

"It is not for me to know or care whether Mr. Smith is a Catholic, a Protestant or a Jew. He is a good citizen.

"Nor do I care whether he pronounces the word 'radio' in a manner to suit the professors of the brain trust. (Smith pronounces it rad-dio.) He pronounces the word 'America' properly and patriotically, and that is all that matters."

Ottawa Reports Employment Gain

MANUFACTURING GAINS

The increase in employment on August 1, the report says, was largely in manufacturing, construction and maintenance and transportation, while mining, communications and services also showed improvement. On the other hand, logging and retail trade reported seasonal curtailment. Employment in all the main industrial groups, except logging and construction, was in greater volume than on the corresponding date last year. The falling off in the latter in this comparison was in work on highways, both building and railway construction being more active.

By economic areas employment increased in Quebec, the prairie provinces and British Columbia. In the Maritime Provinces no general change occurred, while moderate reductions were shown in Ontario.

PRAIRIE PROVINCES

Employers in the prairie provinces reported continued improvement, the 1,361 employers making returns had 124,672 workers, as compared with 121,658 at the beginning of July. The gains took place mainly in highway and building construction, transportation, services and trade, while employment in the manufacturing showed practically no general change, and logging, mining and railway construction released employees. The level of employment was higher than on August 1 last year, the index standing at 98.7, compared with 93.0 on the same date in 1934.

B.C. FIGURES

Further marked expansion was registered in British Columbia, mainly in manufacturing, while services, transportation and construction also showed considerably heightened activity. Logging and coal mining, however, were slacker. Within the manufacturing division, the greatest gains occurred in fish and fruit and vegetable canneries. Returns were compiled from 998 firms employing 89,279 persons, or 6,163 more than in the preceding month. A much smaller increase had been indicated at the beginning of August of last year, and the index, at 106.8 at the latest date, was over nine points higher than on the same date in 1934, being also higher than at August 1 in any of the preceding three years.

Abusive Arrest Of Fugitive Charged

Constable Stevenson effected the single-handed arrest of Scott at 867 Cloverdale Avenue, Saanich, early yesterday morning after Scott escaped police guard at the hospital. The constable found Scott in the basement of the premises which he had entered with drawn gun in one hand and a flashlight in the other. The constable said Scott had thrown a piece of cordwood at him which had knocked the light from his hand and narrowly missed his head.

When Scott was called this morning he asked to be given a week's remand. He said he had written to Vancouver for funds with which to secure counsel.

He was granted a remand from yesterday morning to secure counsel and the court declined his request to-day for further adjournment. The accused protested but the magistrate said he would accept a plea of not guilty and hear the evidence.

Constable Stevenson was the first witness and told the details of the accused's arrest.

The accused undertook cross-examination of the police officer and it was at this time that he made the allegations.

VOICES COMPLAINT

He stated he wished to voice a complaint over the manner in which he had been arrested. The constable, he said, was drunk and had beat him to unconsciousness in front of the police station. He had then brought him in handcuffed and beat him again in the charge office.

He asked the constable to tell the court on which side of the car Stevenson had let him out at police headquarters. As the constable paused to think, the accused interjected: "Oh, you wouldn't remember, you were too drunk."

The accused said he had been on his back in the hospital for three weeks and was very weak at the time of his arrest. He also said he had blisters the size of half dollars on his feet.

When the accused was arrested he tussled with the officer for about ten minutes.

Aberhart Surveys Alberta Problems On Edmonton Visit

Alberta government, will not be asked to enter the Aberhart cabinet even if he should so desire.

When Mr. Aberhart arrived here to-day he foud reports circulating that Mr. Douglas would enter politics. He hastened to deny them. Ever since his appointment to the Alberta job a year ago, Mr. Douglas has steered clear of politics and reports he would enter the Aberhart cabinet were not taken seriously, despite their persistency.

IN FEDERAL FIELD

At a caucus of M.P.P.'s elect and candidates in Calgary yesterday, the Aberhart Social Credit Party decided to plunge into the Dominion field, but voted against any political entanglements with Stevens Reconstructionists or any other groups. They will sail under their own banner.

Since the Social Credit Party swept into power at the provincial election last week, overtures have been made to them to hook up with the Reconstructionists in the federal field. But they turned a deaf ear to the pleas yesterday, voting to retain their individuality.

The caucus yesterday paved the way for Mr. Aberhart to become Premier September 3. He was not a candidate in the election and one of his successful nominees will step aside for him. Voting confidence in him, the delegates gave him full power to select his cabinet and take any seat he wanted for himself.

INTERPRETATION AWAITED

The caucus ended in speculation over the meaning of a phrase in the resolution divorcing the party from political entanglements. It reads as follows: "That we (the delegates) at the caucus suggest to the Social Credit League that they do not link up with any political group but do all they can to encourage any western federal constituency, where the local committee have a good hope of winning a seat, to place a Social Credit candidate in the field and that they lend their support and co-operation to such candidate so far as it is possible."

The speculation arose over the phrase "any western federal constituency." It was taken for granted the party would run candidates in most, if not all the seventeen federal ridings in Alberta. There was also the possibility it would invade Saskatchewan and Manitoba if requested by local organizations. Aberhart already has said his party would not interfere in domestic relations of other provinces without an invitation and it was believed future action would depend on overtures from outside organizations.

The Aberhart cabinet will not be selected until Saturday, when he also will announce where he will run for election.

NO DECLARATION

Ottawa, Aug. 29. — Hon. H. H. Stevens, asked to comment on the decision at Calgary of the Aberhart Social Credit Party not to align itself with the Stevens Reconstructionists, said:

The Aberhart Social Credit Party has a perfect right to take any course it may choose; and I am not offering any observation."

Painful Piles
Can be Quickly Relieved

If you think there is no way to relieve the misery of piles, it's because you don't know of HEM-ROID, an internal medicine, from a prescription written by Dr. Leonhardt, a western physician.

The real cause of piles is on the inside—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel, with the tiny rectal veins full of stagnant, impure blood.

Dr. Leonhardt decided the way to relieve piles was internally, with a medicine which would ease the congestion of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and help to heal and restore the sore, tender spots. After many tests he wrote the prescription which has been so successful in giving quick relief from pile misery, it is now offered to you with our promise that you may have your money back if you are not completely satisfied after using one bottle.

No matter what kind of piles you have or how long you have had them, HEM-ROID must show you the quick, clean way to get rid of your pile misery or your money will be given back to you. MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores, or any other druggist can supply you with HEM-ROID and will back up this promise.

MINE HEARING IS ADJOURNED

Inquiry Into Employer-worker Differences at Bridge River Sept. 25

Canadian Press

Goldbridge, B.C., Aug. 29.—Sessions of the conciliation board set up under the Industrial Disputes Act to investigate difficulties between five of the largest mining companies in the Bridge River district and their employees was adjourned yesterday by Judge J. C. McIntosh, chairman, until September 25.

T. W. Bingay of Trail, appointed by the operators, and W. A. Pritchard of Vancouver, named by the workers, were present together with W. E. G. Johnson, secretary.

The operators were represented by R. Bosustow of Bralorne Mines Ltd., and Bradian Mines Ltd., Dr. H. T. James of Pioneer Gold Mines of B.C. Ltd., also representing Congress Gold Mines Ltd., and G. R. Bancroft of Wayside Gold Mines Ltd.

Ernest Bull, counsel for the operators, pleaded his clients were not prepared to present their case. This was protested by John Downey, chairman, J. A. McIvor and Charles Ward, representing the workers.

They argued the month's delay would mean hindering presentation of their case. They charged discrimination had already been shown by the operators and a "weeding out" process had been begun among the employees.

They also charged they had assurances July 25 from the operators they would be ready for the hearing August 28.

Judge McIntosh assured the workers' committee no more interference would take place on the part of the operators and he granted the adjournment.

Income Tax Investigations

Dominion Officials Tracing Back Unregistered Shares in Companies

Canadian Press

London, Ont., Aug. 29.—The Dominion government is conducting an income tax investigation which may bring the federal treasury several millions of dollars in tax arrears, it has been disclosed here. The income tax department is looking into unregistered shares of large Canadian industries, it was learned.

In its investigation the department expects to collect large sums of unpaid income taxes from many of Canada's wealthy men. The inquiry will go back for a period of from fifteen to twenty years.

The investigation in this district is being conducted from the office of George Tambling, London district inspector of income tax. Disclosure of the investigation came shortly after the commission investigating the seven Spencer estates met here yesterday officially to wind up its work.

Commissioner John Cowan was appointed to investigate the estates of the family that pioneered in the oil industry. After a series of public sittings the case was settled.

UNREGISTERED STOCK

Until recently there has been no check on the ownership of bearer share warrants or unregistered stock, it was said. Now, however, when coupons from such stocks are cashed at banks a certificate of ownership must be filed with them.

It was said the income tax department was using these certificates of ownership to carry on a Dominion-wide investigation.

When a certificate of ownership is filed with a dividend coupon the department will check back to see if the person filing the certificate reported income from the stock in the previous year. If not, he will be asked to explain why he did not.

If he replies he did not own the stock in the previous year the income tax department asks from whom he obtained it. Then the previous owner will be checked to see if he declared his dividends on the stock to his income tax return.

Each unregistered stock certificate is being checked back from year to year, and owners are being made to account for their income from the stock.

Officials said there will be no public inquiry into unregistered shares. The investigation is being carried on in district offices.

ROGERS ESTATE GOES TO WIDOW

Brief Will Left By Late Humorist-actor Made Public at Los Angeles; Estate Estimated at $2,500,000 Apart From $2,500,000 Insurance

Associated Press

Los Angeles, Aug. 29.—Only two days before Will Rogers left here for the Alaskan airplane jaunt on which he and Wiley Post were killed August 15, Rogers made his last will.

The one-page document, leaving all the estate to Mrs. Rogers, was filed for probate here yesterday. The probate petition offers no estimate of the estate's value, except that it is "in excess of $10,000," a routine description in such petitions.

Unofficially, the value of the estate has been estimated at upwards of $2,500,000.

A hearing on the petition was set for 10 a.m. September 16, in Superior Court here.

The will said the estate included "personal property, money, travelers' cheques, household furnishings, personal effects, automobiles, tractors, horses, mules and ranch equipment, all of which is community property." No description of real estate or other property is given.

FROM LLOYDS

The $2,500,000 estimate of the Rogers estate includes insurance of about $800,000. It does not include any of the $2,500,000 insurance reported here yesterday to have been paid Mrs. Rogers by Lloyds, the London insurance firm. Edward McCullough, attorney who has handled matters for Lloyds here, said a policy for that sum was issued by Lloyds to Mr. Rogers eight years ago at an annual premium of $100,000 and he understood it had been paid.

Whether payment has been made would not be confirmed.

Swett and Crawford, insurance brokers, said they had insured Mr. Rogers through Lloyds in 1931 for about $250,000, but could not say definitely whether he held a larger policy also. The Swett and Crawford policy is now in process of settlement.

TEXT OF DOCUMENT

Text of the Rogers will follows:

"I, Will Rogers, hereby publish and declare my will:

"My wife's name is Betty Rogers; I have only three children now living, namely: Will Rogers Jr., James Rogers and Mary Rogers.

"I give, devise and bequeath all of my property, both community and otherwise, unto my said wife, Betty Rogers.

"In the event my wife shall not survive me, I give, devise and bequeath all of my estate unto my said children who shall survive me, share and share alike; provided, however, that should any of my said children predecease me, leaving issue, the share to which such deceased child would have been entitled if living, I give, devise and bequeath to his or her issue.

"I hereby appoint my wife, Betty Rogers; O. N. Beasley of Beverly Hills, Oscar Lawler and James K. Blake as executors hereof; should my wife not survive me, appoint my said son, Will Rogers Jr. in place as such executor, and direct that no bond be required of my said wife or son as such executor.

"Dated August 3, 1935.

"WILL ROGERS."

BEAUHARNOIS POWER PLANS

Canadian Press

Montreal, Aug. 29.—In a dispatch from its Ottawa correspondent, The Gazette to-day stated, in part:

"To make its legal position virtually impregnable, the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company, through its general manager, R. A. C. Henry, yesterday met Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, and officials of his department preparatory to formally applying for federal consent to taking on October 1 next 33,000 cubic second feet, the maximum flow of water from the St. Lawrence River as provided in the agreement. This maximum flow will be necessary to develop the 196,000 horsepower which the company is under contract to deliver to the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission on October 1 of this year.

"The policy of the Beauharnois company is understood to be that it desires to be in a position to deliver on October 1 the power stipulated in the contract with the Ontario Commission even though Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn has already made it known that unless and until there was a downward revision of the contracts held by the Quebec power companies with the Ontario commission the latter would not accept delivery of any power."

Mainland Roads Hard Surfaced

Hon. F. M. MacPherson Tells of Progress Between Vancouver and Crow's Nest

Canadian Press

Nelson, Aug. 29.—That the hard-surfacing programme of the provincial Department of Public Works currently in hand will, when completed, bring the mileage of hard-surfaced highways between Vancouver and Osoyoos from sixty miles up to 203 miles, and that between Osoyoos and Crow's Nest from twelve miles up to eighty-six miles, was stated here yesterday by Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, as he released departmental figures relating to the programme.

All told, the transprovincial highway had seventy-two miles of hard-surface before the work was started, and after completion of the current projects it will have 289. "If we get another month of the splendid weather we are having, October 1 will see the projects generally completed," Mr. MacPherson remarked.

Completion of the season's programme in the Vancouver-Osoyoos loop of the transprovincial highway will see the various sections having the following proportions of hard-surfaced roadway:

Vancouver to Spence's Bridge, ninety-six miles out of 194; Spence's Bridge to Kamloops, twenty-seven miles out of ninety-two; Kamloops to Salmon Arm, nineteen miles out of seventy-three; Salmon Arm to Vernon, fourteen miles out of thirty-eight; Vernon to Kelowna, six miles out of thirty-five; Kelowna to Penticton, fourteen miles out of thirty-nine; Penticton to junction with southern transprovincial highway near Okanagan Falls, fifteen miles out of thirty-four.

NELSON DISTRICT

In the Osoyoos-Crow's Nest loop the proportions of hard-surface will be as follows:

Osoyoos to Trail, seventeen miles out of 146; Trail to Nelson, twenty-five miles out of forty-seven; Nelson to Cranbrook, eighteen miles out of 145; Cranbrook to Crow's Nest, twenty-six miles out of ninety-seven.

The western loop will have 203 miles of hard surface out of its whole road mileage of 505 miles, or 39 per cent. The eastern loop will have eighty-six miles of hard surface out of its total road mileage of 435 miles, or 19.7 per cent. On the whole, mileage from Vancouver to Crow's Nest, 940 miles, the hard-surfaced portion, 289 miles, will represent a proportion of 30.7 per cent.

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 29 (Canadian Press).—George Dandre, thirty-four, suffered a fracture of one leg in a race track accident and discovered on his way to a hospital he had lost his pocketbook. The wallet was found, cash intact, in the pan beneath the engine of the racer which struck him.

BRITISH-ISRAEL DELEGATES MEET

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Aug. 29.—The church is "not reaching the many people on the highways and byways," Howard Rand of Detroit told the annual convention of the British Israel Federation of Canada here yesterday. He said it was the task of the British Israel movement to reach these people. He believed many people who could not be moved by the more orthodox churches could be influenced by the federation.

George Crox, a British Columbia director of the movement, said opposition in the form of ridicule faced the British Israel movement, but would be overcome.

Delegates from Toronto to Victoria and many from the United States are attending the convention, with W. H. Blackaller of Victoria, president, occupying the chair.

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY

YOUNG, BEAUTIFUL, GRACIOUS, thoroughly domesticated—the mother of three children—Queen Astrid of the Belgians met her death to-day on that strip of road which runs from Kussnacht to Lucerne in Switzerland. Her husband was driving the automobile which crashed into a tree while he turned for a second to look at a map his Queen was studying.

This particular road is set in wonderful scenery. From the spot where the ghastly tragedy occurred one can gaze at Pilatus and the Rigi, the beautiful Lake Lucerne, and only an hour or so away, by taking one of the palatial steamboats which ply that placid water, one can look at Tell's chapel, go on to Altdorf where stands the gigantic picture of the "splitting of the apple"—the legendary "touch" of the Lake of the Four Cantons.

But why should Belgium again be plunged into sorrow? Only last year the father of the man who to-day must be undergoing torture fell to his death on a mountain-climbing expedition. In the dark days of 1914 the covenant of 1839 was broken by one of its signatories—Germany.

The father of the man who has been robbed to-day of a noble helpmate never faltered. In the hours of adversity, when his people were keeping stiff upper lips, his was stiffer still. So will the young king and his mother and children emulate their example.

To-day the world will send out its sympathy to Belgium and her people.

A POOR STATISTICIAN

MR. J. L. BOWMAN, WHO WAS CONservative member for the Manitoba riding of Dauphin and speaker of the late House of Commons, is doing a good deal of campaigning for the party he represents, knowing, perhaps, that that party will be almost non-existent after October 14. But when he talks about trade he really should consider facts instead of drawing upon his imagination. For example, when speaking in his own constituency the other day, he said that Canada's trade during the last five years had only gone down 54 per cent, while the trade of the world had dropped 66 2-3 per cent, the intention being to leave the impression that under Mr. Bennett's superb management Canada has suffered less from the depression than the rest of the world.

Mr. Bowman, we understand, claims that these are League of Nations' figures and therefore not to be challenged. However, the very latest League of Nations' figures, we learn from The Winnipeg Free Press, tell a very different story. The publication from which our contemporary quotes shows that the figures given is The Review of World Trade, 1934, published as recently as May, 1935, under the authority of "A. Loveday, director of the Financial Section and Economic Intelligence Service." Pages twenty-six and twenty-seven are given up to a statement of world trade in 1929, 1932, 1933 and 1934, with details for each country. In the case of every country the figures of trade are stated in gold dollars, thus putting them all on the same basis. Now for the figures (000,000's omitted):

|---|---|---|
| World trade | 68,606 | 23,375 |
| Canada | 2,524 | 765 |

So says The Free Press: "World trade thus fell, as Mr. Bowman says, 66 2-3 per cent from 1929 to 1934; but in the same period Canadian trade fell 69½ per cent. The able statistician who supplied Mr. Bowman with his figures got the picture he wanted by using gold dollars for world trade and Canadian dollars (worth only sixty cents in gold) in order to make a fallacious showing. This is not very creditable to the statistician; and not very clever either because the misrepresentation can be so readily exposed.

"This table in The Review of World Trade, 1934, gives no comfort to Canadians. It shows that our external trade, in gold dollars, was less in 1934 than in 1932 though higher than in 1933; that in the eighty-three countries listed about sixty make a better showing than Canada; and that we are at the tail of the procession so far as British countries are concerned. It shows that whereas Canada had 3.68 of the world's trade this percentage had fallen to 3.27 in 1934. Such was the condition in 1934 (and 1935 will show no improvement) of a country which, according to Mr. Bennett and Mr. Bowman in 1930, would not feel the depression at all if its affairs were in competent hands."

MAKING REAL MEN

EARLY THIS SUMMER THE PROVINcial government launched an important experiment in the salvaging of unemployed youth. It put several hundred young men into camps to learn mining and forestry.

The first dividends on this modest investment are now being paid. Already nearly half the boys in the forestry camp at Cowichan Lake, having learned to look after themselves in the woods, have found jobs in the timber industry, which is ready to absorb all the youngsters who make good in the government's training course.

From the mining camps comes the news that the boys are finding a little gold but, more important, are finding a keen interest in their work. Many of them will remain permanently in mining and will find their present training period of inestimable value to them later on.

The government's experiment apparently has been an outstanding success. It is not only turning out the best type of men for our two most important industries, but is rescuing boys from the insidious disease of idleness and despair which is the worst and most enduring feature of the depression.

What a contrast there is between the active, happy young fellows in the forestry and mining camps and the unfortunate inmates of the federal government's road camps! The chief distinction is not that the boys in the provincial camps are paid more, for their wages are small, but that they feel they are doing something worth while and getting somewhere. They are learning a trade, a way of life and a love of British Columbia's wilderness which is vital in the future development of this new country. They are learning about our forests and our minerals, which will always provide jobs for a large part of our population. They are being made into useful and contented British Columbians where a large percentage of the young men in the road camps, as a result of official stupidity and lack of human understanding, are being made into listless malcontents, who may never find their feet in life.

THE WORK OF NATURE

THESE PERIODIC DROUGHTS THAT are the curse of the North American west are apparently a very old story.

The National Geographic Society has been studying weather conditions of the long ago in Arizona and New Mexico, and it has found records of a very destructive twenty-three-year drought which began in 1276 and caused the migration of Indian tribes from a once fertile region of forty villages.

This drought took place about the time that old Kublai Khan ruled in China, and it turned a fertile plain into a desert. The Indians abandoned their villages forthwith, and moved on to greener fields, experiencing, no doubt, all the discouragement and heartaches that farmers on this continent knew last summer.

Some six and one-half centuries have passed since—and the problem is still with us. Fortunately, modern reclamation and forestation schemes do not condemn us to the only solution the Indians could find—hopeless flight.

THIS IS 1935

"If Premier Hepburn of Ontario voices the views of Mr. Mackenzie King in the latter's belief that the Bank of Canada should be under political control, then it is obvious what kind of pressure will be brought to bear by politicians on a nationally-owned and controlled central bank. It will become the plaything of ill-informed politicians who are in a hurry."

THE ABOVE IS AN EXTRACT FROM A contemporary's editorial which has lost its soul in the cause of special privilege.

The Liberal party of Canada of which the leader is Mr. Mackenzie King believes that the Bank of Canada should be owned by the people of Canada.

To call it the property "of ill-informed politicians who are in a hurry" would seem to be an insult to the intelligence of the Canadian people.

After all, the government of the people of Canada is the Canadian people. Are they to be denied the ownership of what should be their own property?

The Conservative party of this Dominion must realize that this is a young country—not a country of the Middle Ages.

ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES

Friends arrive, and all is laughter
Greetings warm and welcoming kisses.
What if partings come soon after?
There's no joy so real as this is.
Carry in the grips and cases!
Lightest task of all the summer.
Smiles of joy light all our faces
As we welcome every comer.

Friends arrive with shouts of gladness
As we hurry out to meet them.
Here's the cure for all life's sadness:
Stretch the table out to seat them!
This is how we feel about them:
Lonely, so we couldn't bear it,
This old place would be without them!
It is kept for friends to share it.

Friends depart! The hours are fleeting!
Done the laughter and the playing!
Where we gave a hearty greeting
Now a sad farewell we're saying.
Homeward bound, the visit ended.
Now our only thought, alas! is:
Thus with joy and sadness blended
Every year the summer passes.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE ELECTORAL LISTS
Le Devoir, Montreal

The Anglican Bishop, Dr. Farthing has just brought before the public in striking manner the question of the electoral lists. One might hope that it will now be impossible to drop this problem and forget it. Things cannot remain there. These putrid election lists cannot serve as a basis for the next election. The falsifications revealed indicate a number of grave offences. Are they to remain unpunished? And the poor devils who have been in the limelight so far are probably only tools. A manoeuvre of such scope must be inspired by people of higher calibre. Mr. Taschereau has powerful forces at his disposal. Will he take steps to bring these people to light? We are evidently faced with an attempted electoral theft on a big scale. It is up to the Attorney-General to assure the discovery and punishment of the guilty persons.

TOO FAR—NOT FAR ENOUGH
The Ottawa Journal

Parliament continues to voice discontent over the administration of radio. The trouble with Parliament is that it is as extreme in its discontent now as it was extreme in its optimism two years ago. Largely because Parliament was carried away by a lot of nonsense, including the usual patriotic cry, State control of radio went too far, yet didn't go far enough. We were to have Canadian programmes, and we were going to keep out American programmes; but we didn't provide enough money to get good Canadian programmes, and we haven't kept out American programmes. Nor will we—until we're willing to take the cost. Radio broadcasting is an expensive thing, and the notion that all we had to do to get good radio programmes was to set up a Radio Commission and turn over to it radio license fees, was a childish notion—as childish as some criticism we are getting now.

Banff, Alta., Aug. 29.—J. Davidson, Calgary, yesterday led home between sixty and seventy golfers to win the Willingdon Trophy for thirty-six holes, medal play, handicap. With a handicap of twelve, his net scores were 69-68—137.

BUDDY BAER TO BATTLE DOYLE

New York, Aug. 29.—Taking no chance of being defeated for the second time by Jupiter Pluvius, those two crooners of the fight ring, Buddy Baer and Ireland's Jack Doyle, will move into Madison Square Garden tonight for their six-round engagement. The fight originally was scheduled to be held in the garden's bowl last week but was rained out.

Baer, who has been training faithfully at Speculator, N.Y., where his elder brother, Max, is preparing for an engagement with Joe Louis, is the 13 to 5 favorite to whip the pride of the Irish. Neither has shown much in the way of ring ability.

Miss Caroline Stark, secretary of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, British Columbia branch, stated yesterday she had received a letter indicating Miss Traung would come here direct from Minneapolis, where the United States national is now under way. She said it was also probable other California golfers would come here from Minneapolis.

The entry of an Alberta team for the inter-provincial championships has brought the number of teams entered to five. Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba and British Columbia had already entered.

Freddie Miller In Easy Ring Victory

It was Miller's second ring appearance in the United States since his return from Europe a month ago. He weighed 127 pounds, Hamilton 128 pounds.

Miller took every round, again as he did last week against Roger Bernard, Flint, Mich., proving to home town fans that his year's campaign on the continent did much to season him.

Hamilton was Miller's first home town opponent in more than six years.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

August 29, 1910
(From the Times Files)

All the public schools opened this morning after the summer vacation. The scholars seem to be in the best of health and spirits after their long holiday and ready for a hard term's work. No opening exercises were held at any of the schools.

At this evening's meeting of the City Council tenders for the supply of 1,000 or more garbage tins will be opened. The tins must conform to a sample which the health and morals committee had manufactured some time ago and which has been on view at the City Hall. It is understood that it is the intention of the council to insist that the successful tenderer shall manufacture the tins in this city. In all, some 8,000 tins shall be required before the new system of garbage collection can be made fully operative in this city.

There have been a number of important transfers of property in the Saanich district recently. Frank Verdier, the well-known timber cruiser, has disposed of 160 acres of his ranch which faces the Saanich Arm, to a local syndicate for a sum amounting to over $50,000. Mr. Verdier retains about five acres of his holdings and the residence and outhouses, including the large orchard.

Favored with ideal weather, the power boats made an excellent showing in Saturday's races under the auspices of the Victoria Yacht Club. There was practically no wind and only a light swell, which did not interfere with the progress of the competitors.

There was a meeting of representatives of the trans-Pacific steamship companies in this city Saturday for the purpose of arranging the schedules for steerage passengers.

Phil Edwards To Run on Saturday

Montreal, Aug. 29.—Phil Edwards, noted middle-distance runner who has twice represented Canada in the Olympic Games, will run in the 1,000 metres race at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto Saturday, it was announced yesterday. He will wear McGill University's colors in the race.

Paulbeg Captures Gimcrack Stakes

York, Eng., Aug. 29.—Sir L. Parkinson's colt, Paulbeg, to-day won the famous Gimcrack Stakes over the six-furlong course here, a neck ahead of Sir Ernest Tate's Barrowby Gem. Sir Alfred Butt's Windsail was third, a length further back.

The winner started at 20 to 1, second at 15 to 8 and third at 100 to 8. Eight ran.

The Gimcrack is one of the season's features for the two-year-olds. It was first run in 1846 and last year's winner was Bahram, winner of the Derby in June.

Minot, N.D., Aug. 29.—Jack Gibbons, St. Paul, 165, won his fifty-fifth straight fight yesterday evening with a technical knockout over James Slattery, Minot, 172, in the third round.

THE BIG SIX

Lou Gehrig had another good day at the plate yesterday and took a clear hold on a place in baseball's Big Six. Lou made three hits, including his twenty-seventh home, in six official times at bat. That added two points to his average and broke a last-place tie with Buddy Myer of Washington, who could not alter his .340 average. Joe Vosmik, American League leader, improved on Gehrig's performance by hitting five times in eight attempts for a five-point gain while all the other active Big Six members lost ground.

Seattle May Get New Baseball Park

Seattle, Aug. 29.—The city council yesterday took steps to provide the Seattle Pacific Coast League club with a new baseball park next spring.

The council approved a plan whereby the ball club will deed to the city the site of its former park, destroyed by fire three years ago.

In exchange the council proposes to apply for a $85,000 grant from the public works administration for construction of a new park. The club would raise additional funds.

U.S. MOVE TO PUSH EXPORTS

States Propose Strong Campaign For Increased Foreign Lumber Markets

The United States as well as Russia will wage a strong campaign for increased foreign lumber markets during the next year, a movement certain to affect British Columbia's largest industry and most important export commodity. This is indicated by the United States Department of Commerce in a sepecial publication on lumber just received here. It follows an intensive survey of the world timber situation by experts of the United States Government.

The new bulletin stresses strongly the need of building up lumber exports from the Pacific Northwest States to foreign countries where they would compete with lumber from British Columbia.

"Open channels of trade with other countries through reciprocal trade agreements will do much to promote needed foreign trade in American lumber," the department of commerce states in a significant passage. "Deliberate attention to foreign lumber market needs must continue. The lumber industry, if it wishes to regain its place in foreign markets, must cater to the building customs as well as to the industrial trends in each country whose trade it seeks."

BRITISH COLUMBIA DECLINING

Already the effect of the United States' efforts to increase lumber exports is being noted in latest trade figures. These show that where British Columbia's timber exports showed a sharp decline in the present summer, those from Puget Sound and Oregon gained heavily. To a great extent this was due to the Japanese embargo on Canadian products and the transfer of virtually all this business to Washington and Oregon.

The domestic lumber situation in the United States will be one of the chief factors in the recovery of the timber industry here. While Canadian lumber is virtually under an embargo in the United States, the consumption of timber products there vitally affects Canadian exports. When the United States market is absorbing most of the domestic output, the effort to sell abroad slackens. When that market cannot absorb the supply, American lumbermen must seek foreign markets, largely at the expense of British Columbia.

The latest figures, just issued by the department of commerce, show that the United States will consume between 16,000,000,000 and 17,000,000,000 feet of lumber this year where it consumed 35,807,000,000 feet in 1929. Its timber industry thus is capable of producing more than twice as much as the country is using at present. Consequently the industry is doing everything possible to increase its export trade and this, along with Russian price-cutting, increases the difficulties of the industry in British Columbia.

RETARD RECOVERY

These factors are helping to retard the recovery of the British Columbia industry from the slump which hit it at the beginning of the summer. In such an uncertain world market situation logging operators hesitate to reopen their camps and the present timber output is not increasing as rapidly as had been anticipated. In the last week it was 28,607,000 feet as against 35,327,000 feet in the previous week. But the latest log scale figures are higher than those of midsummer and represent some measure of recovery. The trend of the province's largest industry during the autumn will depend largely on the market situation, particularly in Britain.

BRITISH TOUR PARTY HERE

Tyley, of Somerset; Mr. and Mrs. Whitehouse, of Monmouth; Madame H. de Vallet, of Paris; Mr and Mrs. Vickerman, of Yorkshire; Miss Bush, of Sussex, and Misses E. and W. Green, of Luton.

Company Honors For Local Agent

Announcement has come from the head office of the London Life Insurance Company at London to the effect that J. Barraclough, C.L.U., of the local branch, has been successful in winning membership in the "24K" Club, an organization composed of the biggest producers in the company's field force during the club year.

The present basis of qualification was established in 1926 and this "24K" Club has the largest membership of any year since that time—an indication of London Life sales activity and progress. These men with the London Life managers are visiting London this week when the company is commemorating its diamond jubilee and also the fact that within the last year it has passed the half billion dollar mark in life insurance in force.

Labor Day Week-end Will See Many People Visiting Island Resorts

A long week-end with a Monday holiday following turns the thoughts of everyone into the channel of how best to spend the leisure time. When Old Sol co-operates and turns on the full power of his life-giving sunlight, when the skies are blue and the nights warm, then there is an added zest to week-end plans. Automobile engines are tuned up, hiking gear looked over, fishing tackle hauled out of dark corners, a hundred and one plans are made and the long holiday is looked forward to with eager anticipation.

Labor Day is always a favorite holiday with pleasure seekers. The weather has mellowed to a tantalizing mixture of summer heat and autumn's exhilarating cool. The foliage, heavy and abundant, is tinted with the faint brilliancy of fall. There is a stillness over everything, a breathtaking sense of waiting . . . and exciting hint of beauty still to come. Then, too, there is a knowledge that Labor Day marks the last long week-end of the summer season. Everyone wants to take advantage of it in some way or other. Whether it be but a short jaunt into the country, a few hours stolen from the busy life of the city, or a lazy week-end spent far from the noise and bustle of business life, if it is at all possible, people get out and away.

ISLAND RESORTS

Vancouver Island is especially fortunate in the number and beauty of its resorts. It offers the vacation seeker or those who plan for a long week-end, many different kinds of out-of-door adventure. Close to Victoria or farther away along the length of the great Island Highway are resorts and whole districts that devote the whole summer season to catering to the needs of pleasure seekers. There are auto camps, not only along the highway, but far off in the hills or beside some tiny lake, that boast the most modern conveniences it is possible to have. There is accommodation for everyone, and to suit all purses, extending from Victoria far up into the beautiful Campbell River country and Forbes Landing at the end of the road.

Many of the hotels and auto camps that have given such excellent service during the summer months to the visiting tourist, will remain open through the autumn. Fishing is just coming to its peak on the island and will be increasingly popular during the coming weeks. As long as there is sunshine, Vancouver Island's great outdoors can be thoroughly enjoyed. Week-ends and longer holidays in September and October are very often the pick of the season.

COACH LINES EXCURSIONS

Excursions to many of the popular resorts and playgrounds near Victoria are being run by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines for Labor Day week-end. In addition to the low week-end fares, the final return limits of which have been extended until Tuesday midnight, September 3, a special bus is scheduled to meet the Steveston Ferry at 10 o'clock on Monday night. This allows passengers who are spending the week-end in the Mainland city to leave Vancouver as late as 6 o'clock in the evening of Labor Day—arriving back in Victoria at 11 at night.

The last excursion of the year is being run to Friday Harbor on Saturday next. The trip offers a delightful cruise through the American Gulf Islands to this fascinating port.

Excursions to Shawnigan Lake, Sooke Harbor and the ever-popular Goldstream Park are being run on both Sunday and Monday. A Mystery Trip and an excursion to Newcastle Island on Sunday, and bargain excursions to Nanaimo, Qualicum Beach and Jordan River on Labor Day round out an attractive programme for the traveller and picnickers.

Air Stewardess

The room they were in was alive with books and warm with maroon colored hangings. A fire burned brightly in the fireplace. Shaded lights gleamed conveniently close to every chair. It was a room to invite the soul and Irene, picturing Bart reading before the fire, thought achingly, "No wonder he's ambitious—when success means things like this."

Was he going to be here or wasn't he? Then Steve, pressing a bell for the servant repeated the question which had been running through her mind.

"Where's Bart?"

"In the laboratory with Father. They've been there for hours."

"Tell the doctor our guest is here, will you, Clem?" Steve ordered.

Ten minutes later Irene lifted startling black-lashed green eyes to the sight of the man she loved. Unconscious of her proximity, he was happily absorbed in conversation with the older man.

It was Dr. Reagan, whose bushy eyebrows concealed grey eyes so like his son's, who boomed, "Little Miss Gardner, isn't it? Well, this is a surprise."

At the sound of her name Bartlett frone to attention. His eyes met hers self-consciously. Irene was amazed to realize that his panic was even greater than her own. The knowledge gave her courage to put out her hand, saying, "Good evening, doctor! How are you?"

Then everyone was laughing and talking again, dinner was announced, and Peggy was saying childishly, "Come and sit by me, Bart darling! I haven't seen you for four days."

"Didn't Dr. Williams tell me you had gone into aviation?" Dr. Reagan inquired kindly.

"Yes, I have," the girl answered while Stephen, Jr., added, "That's where I met her, dad. Flying to Seattle."

Bart was listening, too. Irene could see him watching her covertly.

"Much better," she replied gayly. "It's quite the most thrilling experience I've ever had."

"I wanted to learn to fly but daddy and Steve won't let me," pouted Peggy.

"You wanted to be an actress, too," Steve reminded her. "And when you were thirteen you were going to be a nun."

"I still think I'd have made a good one," his sister retorted. "It would be lovely to wear a long white robe and go about doing good."

The men laughed as they would at the antics of a pet kitten.

"What sort of a uniform do you wear, Miss Gardner?" was Peggy's next question.

"A very ordinary green one."

"Oh, but isn't it romantic? I mean it must be exciting to sail around in the sky."

"It's exciting when several passengers are ill and all wanting you to hold their hands."

"That would be fun," Peggy gushed, forgetting to be languid. "I would hold the hands of all the good-looking young men and let the women look after themselves."

"Yes, and you'd be losing your job," her father said, smiling indulgently.

"Pass the salt, Peggy, and be yourself. You'll make a much better wife than you would an air hostess," suggested Steve.

How could Bart be seriously considering marriage to such a spoiled child, thought Irene. Even if her father were the biggest surgeon in the world! Couldn't he see what marriage to such an emotionally undeveloped person would mean?

Later she observed that he had already adopted the attitude of Steve and her father. Indulgent, protective, amused. That he was not in love with Peggy Reagan was obvious to the girl who had known the bitter sweetness of his kisses. But after all it was none of her business.

If he was willing to pay the price, and evidently he was, let him marry Peggy and go into her father's office. Some day, when he had become a famous surgeon and had everything money and fame could buy, he might look back upon that passionate love affair with her and realize that after all he had missed something.

Without giving him so much as a fleeting glance, Irene bestowed all her attention upon the other two men, leaving Bart free to entertain his fiancee. But before they left the house when the surgeon had gone to his study and Peggy and Stephen were getting their wraps, Bartlett and Irene were left alone.

CHAPTER X

The glance which passed between the doctor and Irene when they were left alone was long and full of questions. So many times in the old hospital days they had been forced to conceal their infatuation, it was comparatively easy now to let their eyes say words they dared not speak. And both had long been adept in reading the other's expression.

Irene's was cold and bright and hard. The man's self-conscious, uncomfortable, and conciliatory.

He said uneasily, "It's chilly this evening."

"Yes, isn't it?" Irene answered.

Turning to a pile of small leather-bound books on the table she selected one and began to flip through the pages.

"How's everything at the hospital?" she inquired politely.

"Same as usual. I heard you were out there the other day."

"Yes, I ran in for a moment."

"It's funny," he said, attempting to be facetious and failing, "that you wouldn't look up your old friends."

"Oh, I did! I saw Pete and Mary Price and Charlie Robinson."

Bart's eyes were like magnets, drawing her towards him. Another moment and, forgetting everything she would be in his arms.

"I should have liked to see you, too," he said.

Then suddenly Steve and Peggy were back in the room. Wrapped in an elaborately fur-trimmed coat much too old for her, Peggy lifted her pouting, heavily made up mouth to the doctor, murmuring, "You haven't kissed me to-night."

"She hasn't the finesse of a rabbit," Irene thought bitterly as her former fiance laughed, "I prefer to do my kissing in private."

Nevertheless he stooped to bestow the requested caress. It was the lightest, most casual of kisses but Irene winced. If there was going to be much of that, she'd not be able to stand it, she told herself wildly.

DR. DAFOE HAS NEW WORRY

Tourists Find New Dodge to Meet Busy Physician

Canadian Press

Callander, Ont., Aug. 29.—Good-natured Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe wondered to-day just how he would contend with a new dodge invented by visitors to Callander intent on meeting the famous physician to the Dionne quintuplets as well as the celebrated youngsters themselves.

Anyone can see the babies in their twice-daily appearances, but Dr. Dafoe finds it impossible to meet more than a few of the thousands who come here each week to see Annette, Yvonne, Cecile, Emilie and Marie, fifteen months old yesterday.

Now the tourists have discovered a way of meeting Dr. Dafoe and claiming him as their own physician. And there does not seem anything the doctor can do about it. As they approach Callander someone in the party develops a previously undiscovered ailment and, as Dr. Dafoe is a physician, there is nothing more natural than that they should call on him for advice.

The physician smiles wryly about it, but the persistent hero worshippers have their way. Some really have chronic ailments and go away from Callander with a valued prize—a prescription in the famous physician's handwriting.

He said to-day as the quintuplets completed their fifteenth month of life—they were born May 28, 1934—that they had never been in better health. They all gained in weight during the past month, although Cecile advanced only one ounce. The heat affects her more than Emilie, who gained twelve and one-half ounces, and her other sisters.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

IF MEALS ARE A BORE TO RUN-ABOUT CHILD, LET HIM FEED HIMSELF

The moment a child is able to wobble about on unsteady legs, he begins his explorations into space by standing up in his carriage or high chair or bed, waving precariously and enjoying the sensation he creates. At this time a strap of webbing about his waist will prevent him from toppling head over heels over the top of the bed, or the carriage, or chair—and will encourage him to lie still long enough to go to sleep, or to sit still long enough to finish a meal.

But eventually even the safety strap loses its usefulness. The child cries and squirms to get up in the high chair and meal times become for a mother a desperate race to get the food in before the child wants out.

SELF FEEDING

Some help for the situation can come from turning over to the child the chief responsibility for feeding himself. Usually children who become restless while eating have too little to do. To keep them busy, to snare their interest with the job of putting food safely in their mouths is usually sufficient to keep them occupied until the food has disappeared. A little help from mother occasionally, will lighten the tedium of entire self feeding.

Still later they should be divorced from their high chairs and put up to the family table in the youth's chair, or fed in the kitchen from a small table and chair fitted to their size.

LET HIM GO HUNGRY!

If the meal appears and stays only a moderate time, the child who has spent that time capering about the room, will learn that meals are not eaten in that way—and that inattention means an empty stomach until the next time. The mother who is hardy enough to carry through such a plan a time or two, will find the child ready to listen to the call of the dinner bell and apply himself to his food.

The standing up stage, the run-about stage arrive in all homes. Then the child comes to look upon meals as times of restraint—sometimes of punishment, and almost always of nagging—and his endeavor to get away from them, to end the period in a hurry, is inevitable. The mother's method of handling these phases will do much to avert further misbehavior related to feeding.

Needle in Baby's Body Is Elusive

Associated Press

Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 28.—Four-year-old Alice Day, recovering from the third operation that failed to remove an elusive needle from her body, is "Alice in Wonderland" to her nurse because of her constant cheerfulness.

The needle now is near her spine, behind a muscle which the doctors refused to cut. Twice before, the wandering bit of steel shifted to a new spot after X-ray located it. The surgeons said to-day they will wait until Alice fully recovers before deciding their next step.

The chubby, blue-eyed youngster swallowed the needle last March.

Before you blame the brand for the fact that your lipstick does not stay on for hours, check up on your method of application. Lipstick should be smoothed on dry lips, allowed to set for several minutes and then wiped off with cleansing tissues. ## WESTERNER WINS PRIZE FOR NOVEL

Associated Press

New York, Aug 29.—Clara Weatherwax, whose ancestors came to America in 1610, was namer yesterday winner of a contest for a proletarian novel sponsored by the New Masses, a radical publication, and a New York publishing house (The John Day Company).

Her book, "Marching, Marching," wins the $750 prize in addition to royalties.

The story is laid in a lumber town on the north Pacific coast, and was writeen from the author's own experinces. Her grandfather, J. M Weatherwax, was an early settler of Aberdeen, Wash., and the first American ship launched in the northwest was named for him.

Since 1930, Miss Weatherwax has "lived almost all the time in a working class neighborhood in Oakland, Calif," the publishers said.

SUBSTITUTES FOR BATH POWDER

These hot days a good many women are using the new body perfumes instead of bath powder. The best ones are as cooling as plain cologne, but have a lingering scent that makes separate perfume unnecessary.

London Shows New Colorings

"Egg-plant" and "Wine Rose" Among Latest Shades for Fall Wear; Checks Popular

London, Aug. 28.—Fashion is a full-time job these days. Day after day women have been scurrying to dress shows . . . sometimes three a day. First the London "showings" and then a quick trip by air to Paris for a couple of important Paris "openings." And there are to be still more trips to Paris in the coming few weeks.

So far, these are the main outlines of coming fashions: Shorter skirts, softer colors, classical drapery, higher necklines, and return to "curves."

In London the new colors for town wear are "Egg Plant," a soft dull blue-purple, and "Burgundy" deep wine-red.

For sportswear "Berry Bloom" and "Wine Rose," softer shades of the town colors, have been chosen by the British Color Council, the association of British dyers.

For evening, there are "Tally Ho," a gloriously bright scarlet, "Rose Mourant" and "Pink Ash," two soft pink shades.

CHECKS FEATURED

Checks, too, will be popular if Norman Hartnell, the clever young London designer, has his usual success.

At his tea-and-cocktail "showing" he paraded more checked suits and dresses than I have ever before seen in one collection. Even his dinner dresses had little gold and silver check patterns on their "angel wing" puff sleeves.

He has also invented the "Crusader belt." They are broad and brilliant. Some were studded with semi-precious stones, others were steel or ivory plaques fastened with huge steel buckles.

In Paris, were shown belts, but narrower and less warlike. Fashions there are, in fact, rather more subdued and "ladylike" than in the English collections.

The saucy little caps of last spring have given way to ultra-feminine off-the-forehead hats of supple stitched satin. Everyone has a tiny forehead veil or a specially curled-up brim to show the new side-of-the forehead curls.

Figures are to be in keeping. Only mannequins with well-rounded curves are being employed to show models this season. Several, in much demand a few years ago for their "match" figures, are now completely unemployed. "Too flat-chested and too thin at the neck" is the verdict passed upon them.

Dorothy Round, Great Britain's Number One tennis player, has become dress designer and sportswear adviser to a London firm. This means she will be unable to tour South Africa next winter.

Britain's first lipstick "Ambassadors" have gone to Denmark. They are Miss Cox and Miss Tucker, two beauty specialists. Two Danish girls are taking their places in a British firm while they are in Denmark for twelve months. While there they are to open up a market for British lipstick, soap and bath salts.

FEATHERS ADORN FALL HATS

Feathers of all types and sizes adorn new fall hats. Some swirl upward in Robin Hood manner from the centre of the crown. Others sweep downward to cover an ear or the side of the neck. Then, too, you probably will see hats that are made entirely of feathers. These will be worn on the street as well as to cocktail parties and dinners.

HOW TO MAKE FRENCH FRIED EGG PLANT

Now that egg plant is plentiful in the market, try French-fried egg plant on your family. Peel the egg plant and slice it as thin as possible. Pile the slices on a plate, put a plate on top of the pile and a weight on top of that. Let stand for an hour, pouring off the water that drains out. Then dip each slice in egg, roll in cracker crumbs and fry in deep fat. Each slice should be brown and crisp.

FAGGED OUT

is it the HEAT?

IT'S HARD to keep fresh and alert during a hot, muggy spell. When you feel out-of-sorts, common constipation—due to insufficient "bulk" in the diet—may be the cause.

This ailment saps your vitality. You feel listless and "dopey" during the day. And you can't get needed sleep at night.

Your grocer has a delicious ready-to-eat cereal which will help you keep on your toes all year round. Millions of people have found that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is thoroughly satisfactory—a pleasant, effective way to correct common constipation.

Laboratory measurements show that this natural food furnishes the "bulk" you require. It is also a good source of vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is as gentle as that found in fruits and vegetables—but more effective because it does not "break down" in the intestinal tract so easily. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

TYPING CLASS PROVES BOON

Y.W.C.A. and Soroptomists Appealing For Loan of More Machines

The typewriting practice class which has recently been started at the Y.M.C.A. through the efforts of the Soroptimist Club is proving a great success. The room is now open from 9 to 12 and from 2 to 5 each day, except Saturdays.

Miss Ryan the Girls' Secretary, reports that the girls are taking full advantage of the facilities offered.

However, so many have registered that it is impossible to cope with all the applications unless more typewriters can be procured. At least two more are needed immediately in addition to the ones already kindly loaned by the typewriter companies.

If there are any business people, or others, in the city who have a spare typewriter, and would be willing to loan same for the use of the unemployed stenographers who are using the practice room, the officials of the Y.W.C.A. and the Soroptimist Club would feel very grateful.

Would anyone willing to help in this way please phone Miss Ryan, the Girls' Secretary at the Y.W.C.A. when arrangements would be made to call for the machines, and an undertaking would be given to see that they are well cared for.

This class is filling a real need and it is felt that the citizens of Victoria will not fail in helping to keep this class in operation.

Twenty out of every hundred school children have weakened eyesight. That's the toll that eyestrain takes! There's an added strain, too, when school opens, and more reason for being sure that your child does not suffer. ## Soviet Woman To Attend League

Canadian Press from Havas

Stockholm, Aug. 29.—Mme. Alexandra Kollantay, the Soviet Union's woman minister to Sweden, will be a member of the Russian delegation to the League of Nations meeting next month, it was announced here to-day.

Canada also has a woman delegate to the assembly meeting—Miss Winifred Kydd, dean of women at Queen's University, Kingston.

U.S. BRIDGE TEAM AHEAD

London, Aug. 29 (Associated Press)—The United States bridge team led its British opponents by 37,830 points last night at the conclusion of the day's play. The Americans, Michael Gottlieb and Howard Schenken, are playing a 150-rubber match against a British team headed by S. Hughes

PAPER FOR KITCHEN USES

A new gadget provides paper for every household need. Four rolls—one each of absorbent hand towels, oiled paper, parchment cooking paper and heavy wrapping paper—take up little space, and save a good deal of time and trouble.

QUAKER Puffed Wheat and Quaker Puffed Rice are known as "the cereals children eat without coaxing". Because they look so dainty, taste so flavoury—and are so crisp and crunchy. They're so easily digested (because every tiny food cell is steam exploded) they make an ideal "before-bed" dish as well as a most tempting, healthful breakfast or lunch. Just try them once and you'll serve them regularly.

SEE HOW THEY GROW

The Dionne quintuplets show evidence in this photograph of the sturdy young athletes they may be some day to represent Canada in the Olympic games. Note how they have doffed their baby clothes and donned the athletic uniforms, Maple Leaf crest and all. More power to them. From left to right they are : Nurse Leroux, Marie, Annette, Yvonne, Emilie, Cecile and Nurse Lamoreux. Yvonne, in the centre, appears to be calling upon the one who is holding her to get in the picture. They were fifteen months old yesterday.

NAZI EUGENICS ARE PRAISED

Associated Press

Berlin, Aug. 29.—German Eugenists listened to high praise for Nazi population aids to-day from the lips of foreign scientists.

Professor Clarence Campbell of New York, president of the Eugenics Research Association and member of various national and international scientific societies, told them their social philosophers had constructed a comprehensive racial policy for population development and improvement that promises to be epochal in racial history."

"Guided by its race anthropologists, eugenists and social philosophers," Professor Campbell said, "the third Reich has set a pattern which other nations and racial groups must follow if they do not wish to fall behind in racial quality, accomplishments and prospects for survival."

The road to national extinction through failure to reproduce was an easy one, he warned.

Mrs. L. Schlesinger Files Suit From Husband Found in South America

Associated Press

Los Angeles, Aug. 29.—Charging desertion, Laura Anderson Schlesinger filed suit for divorce to-day from Lee Schlesinger, who disappeared from Portland, Ore., nearly three years ago and later was discovered in Rio de Janeiro.

Mrs. L. N. Hayes, sister of the plaintiff, in explaining the suit said there has never been any martial troubles.

"The stress of business simply proved too much for her husband, and he did one of those strange things which a great many people have done during the depression," Mrs. Hayes said.

Mrs. Hayes said Schlesinger still wants his wife to come to Rio de Janeiro, but stated Mrs. Schlesinger "does not want their children to grow up in a foreign country."

Mrs. Schlesinger alleges in her action that her husband disappeared December 10, 1932, while they were living in Portland, where he was manager of a department store.

At that time his automobile was found in the Columbia River. Later he communicated with his family from South America.

MAN WINS TEA COSY CONTEST

Novel Competition at Toronto Exhibition; Varied Designs

In spite of the modern woman's busy life, the tea cosy competition at the Canadian National Exhibition this year, proves that she still has the time and ability to indulge in this feminine handicraft.

This competition was sponsored by the Ceylon Tea Bureau and it produced some very fine examples of what can be done with a variety of materials and designs to enhance the graciousness and charm of the tea table—to ornament as well as to keep the tea pot warm.

The first prize was won by Dr. F. E. Stark of Cobalt, Ont., who submitted an exquisite article in petit point—pastel flowers on a white background. The second prize was taken by Mrs. M. P. Phare of Toronto with an exotic and colorful cosy in lacquer red hand tooled leather combined with the same shade of crepe de Chine. The third prize went to Mrs. M. McConkey, also of Toronto.

The variety of materials and designs used in making these cosies showed much originality. Leather, raffia, wool—knitted, crocheted and woven, cotton, silk and linen applique were used extensively. Among the hundreds of cosies entered by women, were almost a dozen entered by men. These also showed fine workmanship and clever designs.

You Can Depend On the Man Who ADVERTISES

NINE times out of ten you will find that the man who advertises is the man who most willingly returns your money if you are not satisfied.

He has too much at stake to risk losing your trade or your confidence. You can depend on him.

He is not in business for to-day or to-morrow only — but for next year and ten years from next year. He knows the value of good-will.

You get better merchandise at a fairer price than he could ever hope to sell it if he did not have the larger volume of business that comes from legitimate advertising and goods that bear out the promise of the printed word.

Don't miss the advertisements. This very day they call your attention to values that to-morrow you will be sorry you overlooked.

the Inauguration of

A NEW INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

A NEW STANDARD OF MOTORING SERVICE

A NEW QUALITY LINE OF PETROLEUM PRODUCTS

-for British Columbia Motoring Progress

BRITISH COLUMBIA, in common with many other localities, needs new Industrial Development and new opportunities for employment. It needs increasing and improving motoring service to care for its growing automotive requirements. It is entitled to the highest quality of gasolines, motor oils, and other motoring products—made here at home wherever possible.

Standard Oil Company of British Columbia, Ltd., has been organized and incorporated to do its share in supplying all of these needs, to the mutual advantage of the company and the community.

In this, our first advertisement, we wish to explain to you what we have to offer in operations and services, which will include the following:

1• British Columbia plant, products and payrolls.

2• New Investment, above $750,000, in our new refinery now under construction at Burnaby, and in building and acquiring new Service Stations and dealer-representation. This refinery, and our stations, are being built strictly by British Columbia contractors and labor, using materials purchased in the Province or elsewhere in the Dominion if not obtainable locally.

3• Standard Stations, Ltd. ("At the Sign of the Chevron"), a British Columbia corporation operating a series of Service Stations absolutely modern in equipment, products and service.

"Standard Service" you will find to be far more than a name. It is a new and perhaps surprising system of service developed through careful study of the needs of thousands of motorists. It provides not only courteous attention but—more than that—capable servicemen whenever you drive in.

British Columbia motor registrations now stand more than 61 per cent above those of 1925, and are going higher. Through our investment, service, and products we shall seek to serve the growing requirements of motorists, industry and marine craft.

On the ground that we can and will render a real and useful service, we invite your patronage. We want you to know for yourself what Standard Service and Standard Oil Products really mean in motoring efficiency, economy and comfort.

Fine Concert At Beacon Hill

Novel Musical Presentation By W. F. Tickle's Orchestra on Sunday

An excellent concert programme has been arranged for presentation in Beacon Hill Park on Sunday afternoon next by William F. Tickle's orchestra.

The programme to be given by an orchestra of twenty-five musicians will include a transcription by Charles J. Roberts of the American folk song, "Old Folks at Home."

It will be offered in the musical idiom of various nations, that is to say, the composer has taken the original melody and infused into it characteristics as well as harmonic and rhythmic peculiarities of seven European countries, France, Scotland, Spain, Germany, Ireland, Italy and Hungary.

Selections from "The New Moon" and "Naughty Marietta," as well as the popular "Desert Song," by Romberg, will also be featured.

The programme will conclude with the international fantasy, "Hands Across the Sea."

HEALTH IN THE PALM OF YOUR HAND

It's as simple as that . . . getting rid of that headachy, half-well feeling that keeps so many people from enjoying life. This condition usually comes from some form of constipation. You can avoid it.

"The palm of your hand" refers to the way thousands of men and women take Eno's "Fruit Salt." They pour Eno into the palm of the hand and dash the pure, white powder into a glass of water . . . and drain the glass. It's a mighty healthful thing to do.

Eno quenches thirst, sweetens the stomach, neutralizes acids from foods. Eno frees the intestines from poisonous waste, cools the bloodstream, tones up the entire inner system. Eno is pleasant to take, gentle in action. Every effect of Eno's "Fruit Salt" is beneficial. Begin now to pour health from the palm of your hand. Handy size 50c, Household size 85c.

Stories in STAMPS By I. S. Klein

Two miles from the little port of Palos, in south Spain, stands the Monastery of Santa Maria de la Rabida, where for more than six years Christopher Columbus toiled and planned for his voyage to America.

The great navigator arrived at La Rabida with his young son in 1485 and remained there until 1492, when Queen Isabella finally listened to his pleas for aid. Even then, it was through the help and intervention of the Franciscan monks at the monastery that he gained the queen's support.

Spain issued two stamps showing this monastery, in connection with an entire Columbus commemorative set, in 1930. One is shown here.

Next—On what stamp does the goddess of fertility appear?

Clip out this feature, attach the stamp described, if you have it or can get it, and paste up in scrapbook form.

Nanaimo, Aug. 29.—An ex-officer of the Royal Horse Guards—"the Blues"—and a veteran of the Boer and Great Wars, Edward John Feary passed away at the family residence, Parksville, in his sixtieth year.

Mr. Feary was well known in Errington, where he had resided for twenty-one years. He held the position of postmaster there, and was a member of Concord Lodge, A.F. and A.M.

Surviving are his widow and three daughters, Mrs. D. Stewart, of Errington; Mrs. Godfrey Forbes of Parksville, and Miss Marcia Feary, of the Parksville teaching staff.

Violence and Death Mark Bitter Mine War In East

A shattering blast, and this 110-car train lay in the ditch, fifteenth such dynamiting to shake the Illinois coal fields since the feud between miners' unions became bitter. The mark of the professional bomber was on this disaster, two miles south of Springfield, Ill.

By BRUCE CATTON

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 21.—Peace rules most of the coal fields as a result of amicable postponement of a threatened strike, pending action on the McGuffey coal control bill.

But in the Illinois fields there is no peace. The rich soft coal fields of this state continue to write their records of bloodshed and destruction in what is little less than continual civil war.

In some ways the Illinois coal fields present a situation unique in American labor history.

TRAIL OF VIOLENCE

They are the scene of an utterly ruthless and profoundly tragic three-cornered fight, in which the two bitterest contestants are rival labor unions. The fight has been going on for three years, and the end is not in sight.

More than two dozen men have been killed. Upward to fifty people have been seriously wounded. Coal trains have been blown up, homes wrecked, at least thousands of bombs set off, and there have been countless beatings, clubbings, and plain, run-of-the-mine fist fights.

The most recent outbreak occurred on August 10, when someone laid a bomb that wrecked a locomotive and ten freight cars on the main line of the Illinois Central Railroad a few miles south of Springfield.

UNION AGAINST UNION

Union men working under labor union contracts have been picketed by other union men, cursed and called "scabs." Company guards and state police have been called to protect union men from union men. National guardsmen have been weeks on active duty trying to keep union men from bashing in one another's heads.

The unions involved are the United Mine Workers of America, District 12 (comprising the Illinois coal fields), and the Progressive Miners of America, which started as an offshoot of the United group.

These two groups broke apart in 1932. The United Mine Workers were on strike in Illinois.

Any contract won by the negotiating committee was not to be valid unless ratified by referendum of the entire membership. Union officials announced that an agreement had been reached with operators, and this agreement was submitted to referendum.

VANISHED BALLOTS

The members seem to have rejected the new agreement by a substantial vote. A new agreement was drawn and a second referendum held. The ballots were kept in a bank's safety deposit vault in Springfield. The union's tabulators waited in a Springfield hotel, and messengers were sent for the ballots.

Somewhere between the bank and the hotel the ballots vanished. There are many dark charges of fraud and skullduggery, but the one indisputable fact is that when the new agreement was declared ratified many Illinois miners were left with the feeling that something had been put over on them.

This feeling took the shape in a series of mass meetings. Strikers declared they would not return to work until a new referendum was held. The name of John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, was roundly cursed. . . . Meanwhile, officials of District 12, United Mine Workers, signed the disputed agreement, declared the strike ended, and ordered their men back to work.

TROUBLE BEGINS

On September 1 the miners who felt they had been gypped held a convention in the coal town of Gillespie, in southern Illinois, and broke away from the United Mine Workers completely, forming the Progressive Miners of America. This union has been battling the U.M.W. in Illinois ever since.

The largest coal-producing company in Illinois is the Peabody Coal Company. It signed a contract with the United Mine Workers and proceeded to operate under it. The Progressives sent men out to picket the Peabody mines.

They marched from Springfield to Taylorville, where Peabody has four mines employing some 2,000 men, and urged the men to drop their picks. They sent another march downstate, to rally miners there, reached Duquoin, and ran into a pitched battle.

"WAR, NOTHING LESS"

A high law enforcement official in the coal-producing area describes what followed in this manner:

"The Progressives, inspired to great heights in their fervor of organization, started mass picketing, which led to riots in which the most intense feeling was displayed. Sometimes you'd find four or five thousand men picketing, wrecking cars, and cracking heads. It puts me in mind of war, nothing less.

"I'm convinced that both sides feel they're right. The United Mine Workers say they've a right to work in peace, under union contracts, and it's hard to answer that.

"The Progressives say their cause is right because that election was stolen—and they're probably right. I will say this: I never saw any group of men who sacrificed so much for what they believed to be right as these Progressives."

BRUTAL VIOLENCE

An almost incredible amount of violence has taken place. Officials of the Progressives' union say that seventeen men and one woman in their group have been killed. Officials of the United Mine Workers counter with cases in which their men have been stabbed, slugged, and beaten and their homes bombed—lists which, set in ordinary newspaper type, are literally as long as your arm. The best round-up reports put the death list at between twenty-five and thirty.

The most recent killing occurred in downtown Springfield, when shots from a passing auto killed a member of the Progressives as he stood in his union's headquarters. Ray Edmundson, president of District 12, United Mine Workers, was wounded in the mix-up which followed. The Progressives gave their slain member a funeral procession two miles long.

PROGRESSIVES' COMPLAINT

William Keck, president of the Progressives, insists that the basic trouble is between operators and miners, with the United Mine Workers siding with the operators.

"This is really a fight between a certain group of operators and the miners," he says. "The United Mine Workers is nothing more or less than a company union, the way it's being used in Illinois. It has cast aside all fundamental principles.

"The United has imported thousands of men to take these strikers' jobs. We've seen it take in farmers, filling station men, anyone it could get, to fill its ranks. Fully 90 per cent of its officers in Illinois were appointed by John L. Lewis. Elections are a thing of the past."

THE U.M.W. SIDE

Fox Hughes, vice-president of District, United Mine Workers, counters with the charge that the Progressive Miners of America has accepted a wage scale in the Illinois field below that of the United Mine Workers, and scoffs at Keck's claim that fully 35,000 of the state's 50,000 miners are Progressives.

"They've got about 8,000, at the top," he says. "They go around calling our men scabs, although they accept contracts for less money than the United will touch.

"There's a lot of Red activity in the Progressives, too."

Mayor John W. Knapp, Jr., of Springfield confesses that he has no idea of how or when the trouble will end.

"It's entirely different from when just capital and labor are involved," he says. "Then you can usually call in representatives of the two groups and work out some kind of settlement. But this is a family quarrel, and, like all family quarrels, it is having tragic results."

NO END IN SIGHT

The bombings, especially those which have wrecked freight trains, bear all the earmarks of smooth professional work, according to one law enforcement official in the Springfield area. He believes that nearly all the bombings are the work of only three or four men—pineapple experts, hired by one side or the other from Chicago.

In all this long reign of violence, there have been few convictions. Enforcement officers declare this is because whole communities are terrified and unwilling to testify or to serve on juries.

Attorney General Otto Kerner did succeed in sending five men to prison from Perry county, after bullets from a passing auto entered a miner's home and killed a little girl sitting at the supper table. But, for the most part, the violence has gone unpunished.

James Ormand, Sidney resident who was found on Monday with his throat cut, died overnight in Resthaven Sanitarium, according to word received to-day by provincial police. Mr. Ormand was found lying in a neighbor's barn and was immediately rushed to the sanitarium.

An Episcopal ring, manufactured by E. G. Maynard, local jeweler, from Vancouver Island gold, was presented to Rt. Rev. H. E. Sexton, Bishop-Coadjutor of the Diocese of British Columbia, at the quarterly meeting of the executive committee of the Synod this week. The presentation was made by Bishop Schofield and included a copy of the Canadian Prayer and Hymn Book, with an envelope containing a sum of money.

VICTORIA HAD 154 BLAZES

Total Damage in Year $105,297, Fire Marshal's Report Shows

One hundred and fifty-four fires in Victoria last year were responsible for damage amounting to $105,297 it is shown in the annual report of J. A. Thomas, fire marshal, which has been made public.

The total fire damage for the province was $1,988,501.

The report also states that 9,066 inspections were made by assistant fire marshals and 183 orders issued in Victoria.

Proper enforcement of recent regulations should have the effect of reducing fire losses in cities the report states.

These regulations cover picture theatres, inflammable liquids and oils, installation of oil burners, construction of chimneys and use of compressed gas systems. The regulations are being enforced by the local assistant fire marshals more efficiently as they become acquainted with the requirements.

Defective stoves, stove pipes and chimneys are cited as responsible for a large proportion of fire damage.

Oxford Group Happy Family

A. S. Averill, Back from House Party, Tells of Spirit of Gathering

By A. S. AVERILL

For a full week, ending last Monday, there gathered together at Seabeck, Washington, some 150 persons. They came from all over the Pacific Northwest, men and women, young and old, rich and poor. About one-third of this company came from Canada and the rest from the United States. Many prominent people in church and state were there. They were adherents of the Oxford Group Movement and they had gathered to learn more about the Kingdom of God and gain inspiration to further its coming on earth.

There was no trace of the national prejudice nor traces of class or social distinctions. All lived together as one family. This was not surprising really as all had dedicated their lives to seeking first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness. As I lived among these people I thought: "Here is the road to world peace, in the growth of this spirit lies the hope of an effective League of Nations."

Then amongst us were a few who had recently returned from attending the International House Party of the Oxford Group at Oxford, a house party attended by over 10,000 people drawn from fifty different nations Those who had been there witnessed too the wonderful spirit of fellowship, not between friendly English-speaking nations as at Seabeck, but between nationals of France and Germany, China and Japan, Italy and Jugoslavia.

ALL ONE FAMILY

They witnessed too the truth of the saying that when men give up their wills to God to use them for the furtherance of His plan, they become one family and all previous prejudices and antagonisms are forgotten. When I heard this it came to me very forcibly and clearly that this is the spirit and force which will make the League of Nations able to fulfil its high ideals and that this is the only road to world peace. Then to give us hope, which is what we need in these dark days, we should read the short account just issued by the group from London entitled, "The Oxford Group—The March of Events." This shows the marvelous growth of the movement during the last year.

Then we were told of this amazing and heartening fact, that an Oxford Group team was planning to be at Geneva on September 4, when the League Council is meeting in a session which may decide peace or war between Italy and Ethiopia. The vehicles of the Spirit of God will be standing by to help and influence the highest wisdom of the world in its momentous task of bringing peace from a situation which, under ordinary circumstances, would mean almost certain war. This is the first time anything like this has happened in history, but it shows that God has not deserted the world and that when the need is urgent he is at hand to help.

RECEIVER PLAN IS VOTED DOWN

Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association Will Sponsor Candidates Next Year

A proposal asking for a receivership for the municipality of Esquimalt was voted down by the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association yesterday evening, an informal ballot resulting with thirty-six persons favoring the placing in the field of association-sponsored candidates for the municipal elections next January, and eight voting for administration by a commissioner.

The association will abandon its efforts to secure a receivership, first suggested at the last meeting of the body on Wednesday of last week.

A total of sixty-one persons attended yesterday evening's extraordinary meeting of the association, which was held in the hall of Our Lady Queen of Peace Church. At the time the vote was taken fifty-three were present, but all did not turn in ballots.

Councillor T. Harry Hodgson, as principal speaker of the evening, claimed that the municipality was bankrupt, and pointed to the benefits of commission government in the cases of Prince Rupert, Burnaby, Fernie and Merritt. He stated that the municipality of Esquimalt would have to borrow about $70,000 to carry on until July 1 of next year.

Councillor F. G. Eaton, the association's other representative on the Esquimalt Council, went on record as being opposed to any scheme for receivership.

VISITOR ACQUIRED TECHNIQUE AT LAST

"Now I have got the technique I will be back for the next salmon run" said Robert Armitage, San Francisco visitor, after he had landed a nice little catch in an hour's fishing off Clover Point. For two weeks of the run the young fisherman saw boats all around him haul in fish while he failed to land one. Three days before he had to leave for home he landed four, followed it up with good catches the next two days and reluctantly ended his trip just as he had solved the system of getting them, with the season at its best.

Washington, Aug. 29.—President Roosevelt to-day signed the Frazier-Lemke three-year farm mortgage moratorium bill, designed to replace the law declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court last spring.

The measure permits debt-burdened farmers to go into federal court and obtain moratoriums of as much as three years on their mortgages. During that time their property, in effect, would be under court control.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

THE CLUB BOSSES complain because he won't train consistently, meet officials worry whether he will attend or not, but Sammy Richardson, prodigy of the jump pits, goes along in his own juvenile way. He'll go to the Olympics next year and what happens meanwhile is only incidental. An amazing young fellow is Sammy. He is sixteen years old, a student of Central Technical School at Toronto. He is a negro, darker of skin than Jesse Owens but not quite as black as Ralph Metcalfe and Eulace Peacock, who make up the colored sprint combine in the United States.

* * *

Richardson's broad jump of 24 feet, 11 inches at the Canadian track and field championships in Winnipeg recently was the only answer Sammy has made this season to his critics. No Canadian had ever jumped so far. For a schoolboy he seemed to do nicely without regular training. Beside the astonishing world marks set up earlier in the summer by Owens and Peacock, the new Canadian record looks extremely ordinary. Actually Richardson's effort was quite as sensational as the better-than-26-feet hops by the American colored boys, both experienced jumpers working under expert supervision.

* * *

When he was fifteen Richardson won the British Empire Games broad jump at 23 feet, 8½ inches. It was significant because he was sent to the London games for the hop, step and jump. In Canada the schoolboy hand never covered the distance. Maybe a fluke jump? Sammy came home and failed dismally to approach his London record. The reason was he didn't have to. He won events with jumps around 22 feet. It's only when the spot is right—when the crowd is there and something is at stake—that Sam really goes to work.

* * *

If he moves along next year as he did this, Richardson will be approaching 26 feet about the time the Olympic Games are held in Berlin. It's even possible to predict that he won't do anything like that distance in Canada. Such a jump will come—if ever it does—before the eyes of the Olympic crowd. Sammy is going to grow big—probably he'll be a six-footer in a few years. Right now his shoulders are heavier and wider than any sixteen-year-old the track world knows. He has a chorus-girl waist and long tapering legs of the sort Ziegfield sponsored.

* * *

He ran his 100-yard dash heat at the Canadian championships in 9.8 seconds, but failed to place in the final after leading in the early stages. The boy lost his balance from driving too hard and spoiled his stride. Richardson may very well be Canada's best sprinter next year.

He has cleared 6 feet, 1½ inches in the high jump and it might as well be acknowledged he won't go much higher until he changes his style to a roll. He is still using the scissors style. He was close to fifty feet in the hop, step and jump in 1934, presaging a world record performance here anytime Sammy decides to concentrate.

He'll be throwing weights in two or three years, they say. A rare track specimen, indeed, is Richardson who doesn't turn out for training and isn't serious about anything until a crowd gathers around to watch.

Local Star Wins B.C. Quarter and Hurdles Laurels

Women's Swim Is Postponed

Toronto, Aug. 29.—The Canadian National Exhibition five-mile women's swim for the professional championship of the world was postponed to-day until to-morrow because of cold water. The water temperature of the Lake Ontario course at noon was from 52 to 53 degrees and the postponement was ordered five hours ahead of the scheduled start.

A fresh shoreward breeze, bringing in warmer surface water, gave hopes the race would be held at 5 p.m., E.D.T., to-morrow. If necessary, daily postponements will be made.

Bill Dale Takes Half-mile and Art Chapman High Jump Titles

Y RELAY TEAM NOT OPPOSED

Major laurels in British Columbia track and field circles to-day rested equally on the curly head of Joe Addison, Victoria Y.M.C.A. ace, and "flying cop," and the dark brows of the Vancouver Amateur Athletic Club's Bob Dixon, Empire javelin title holder, as the result of yesterday's provincial championships at Macdonald Park.

Addison scored two of Victoria's four individual victories and finished second in another event in the track list, while Dixon duplicated the feat in the field division.

Favorites ran largely to form in the events with fiery-thatched Hugh Thompson, comparatively unknown Nanaimo middle distance star, furnishing the only major upset as he captured the mile.

SPLIT SPRINT HONORS

Howie McPhee, Vancouver, and Allan Poole, Kelowna, divided the sprint honors. Bill Dale, local school boy, lived up to expectations to capture the half mile, and Art Chapman, competing for the Y, stood out as the example that proves the rule athletes must train as he nicked the high jump laurels.

Pole vault honors went to Ed. Burritt, South Vancouver, without opposition as he cleared the bar neatly at 11 feet 6 inches, while the Victoria Y.M.C.A. scored a similar verdict in the half mile men's relay when Vancouver failed to field a team.

Other champions crowned yesterday included R. Waters, V.A.A.C., discus winner, and C. Williams, Duncan, victor in the broad jump.

While pipes skirled in a corner of the lot as leading exponents of the Scottish national instrument poured forth their lays and played accompaniments to the clever dancing of young artists, a crowd estimated about 2,500 thoroughly enjoyed the meet, sponsored by the Civic Employees' Federation. Ideal weather, good turf conditions and a smart setup kept the crowd entertained most of the way, although dragging field events were finished before nearly empty bleachers.

CIVIC EVENTS

Preceding the championships, members of the Civic Federation, their children and their wives, went through a good programme of races which saw many close finishes.

Promptly on time the features got underway with a colorful parade of athletes, led by the Canadian Scottish pipe band and the highland dancers in gala costumes.

Opening the major part of the programme, Owen Bentley, Y.M.C.A., led home a fast heat in the 100-yards open, with Stan Barrett, Vancouver, a comfortable second well behind.

Joe Addison came out of his holes like a scared rabbit to take the second heat, the fastest, from Allan Poole. Howie McPhee, Vancouver, highly favored for a place, was shut out by the speeding leaders. In the third heat, Vince Forbes, Powell River, showed a clean pair of heels to Paul Rowe, who qualified.

Poole rocketed out of his holes in the final and set up a clean lead half way down the stretch. Addison, who had previously won his quarter, drove in with terrific rhythm to slice the margin to a hairline at the tape, while Paul Rowe, coming out of the ruck in the last few yards flashed in third. It was a great showing for the Victoria boys who beat the rest of one of the province's classiest century dash fields.

DALE COMES THROUGH

Showing his usual strength on the home stretch, Bill Dale, Victoria Y, combined brain and leg power to take the half mile. Chuck Cunningham broke for the post from the start and set the pace for the first quarter. Dale trailed, running close to Redhead of Powell River, who broke fast to snatch the lead half way through the race. Dale passed Cunningham and pushed into the lead on the back stretch, coming into the final bend. Hugh Thompson, Nanaimo, running smartly, moved up to second place but could not match Dale's killing sprint down the home stretch. Dale covered the distance in two minutes two seconds, to lead the second man, Thompson, by

EAGLES TAKE THIRD GAME

Nose Out Sons of Canada 1 to 0 in Senior Baseball League Play-offs

Eagles baseball nine yesterday evening staged a great comeback to get in the fight for the title when they defeated the Sons of Canada 1 to 0 in the third game of the five-game play-off series for the Victoria Baseball League championship at the Athletic Park. The series now stands two games to one for the Canadians.

Victory came to the Eagles when Red Bennison, hefty slugger, crossed the plate in the first frame, to chalk up the only run of the match.

Lorne Murray, Eagles slab artist, let the Sons down with four bingles and struck out five. Henry Woodford was at the receiving end.

Sons of Canada marched out Fred Acres, recruit from the Juvenile League, to do their mound work for the first three innings. He allowed two hits, one of which was a triple for Bennison, who eventually scored the only run. "Sonny" Walker went to the slab after the third frame and finished the five-inning fixture.

Score by innings:

Eagles ..... 1 0 0 0 x—1

It was announced yesterday evening after a meeting of the league officials that the champions of the league will play an exhibition match with an all-star aggregation, Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, at the Athletic Park.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

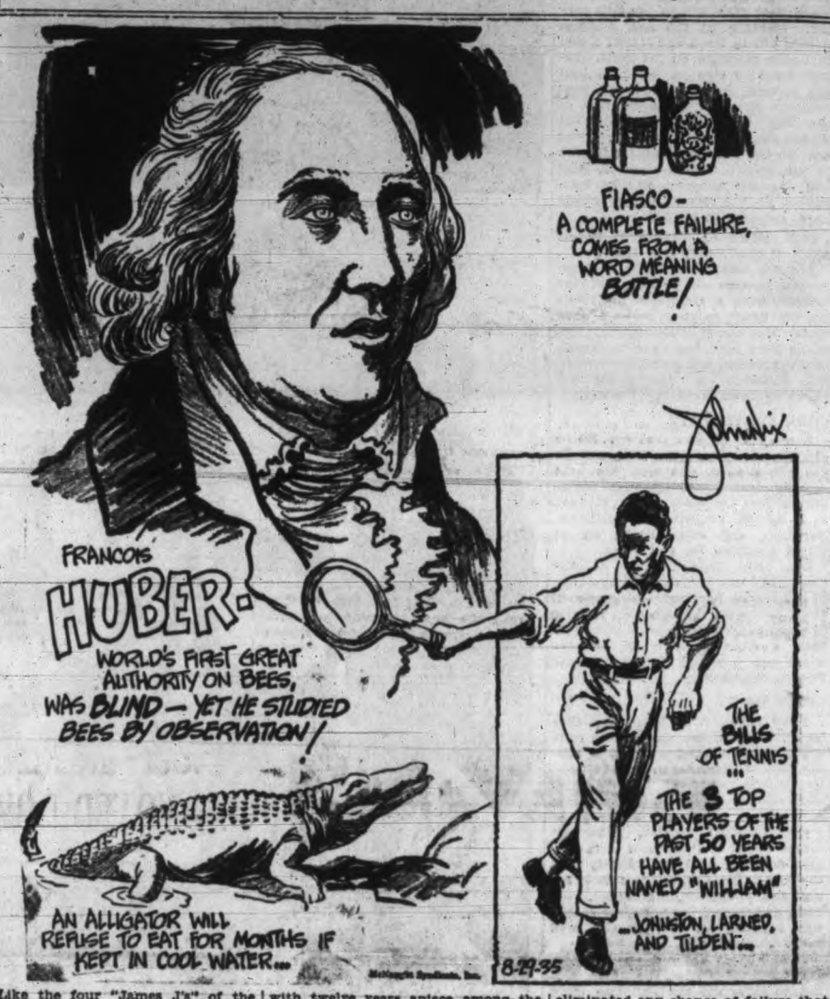
—By John Hix



Like the four "James J's" of the heavyweight world, the three "Bills" are the champions of tennis. For almost half a century, since 1885, the three best men of the tennis courts have been William Larned, William Tilden and William Johnston.

These three men have been ranked among the first ten players of the United States more times than any others. First comes William A. Larned who was among the first ten for nineteen years. Johnston, whose picture is the above drawing, and Tilden tie with twelve years apiece among the ten best tennis players.

Strange as it seems, a blind scientist who studied by observation—the observations of others, of course—came to know more about bees than any other living person. He was Francois Huber, blind Swiss naturalist, born at Geneva in 1750.

He had special bee hives constructed with glass sides, and had others observe the habits of the bees. These observations were reported to him, and from them he drew his conclusions. This method, he said, eliminated any chance of failure that might occur with just one observer—the errors arising from the "personal equation" were ruled out by taking an average of many observers.

Huber discovered the routine of life in the hive. He cleared up the mystery of the queen, the function of the drone, and disproved many popular fallacies then current. He showed they gathared pollen and propolis as well as nectar. All these things he learned—and Huber never saw a bee except in early boyhood.

Receive Entries For Canoe Derby

Albie and Jumbo Davies Are First Pair to Enter Port Angeles-Victoria Test on Sept. 7; Bill Webster, Vancouver, Will Compete

Entries are now being received at the offices of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce for the second annual Port Angeles to Victoria canoe classic, which is to take place on Saturday, September 7. The race will be from Port Angeles to Victoria this year, it being reversed last year.

Jumbo and Albie Davies, well-known local athletes, are the first team to formally file their entry, it was announced this morning by W. O. Findlay, secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Bill Webster, Vancouver, with an unknown partner, has also filed his entry, while several members of the Vancouver Canoe Club are expected to make formal application by the beginning of the week.

FINE PRIZES

Besides the perpetual challenge shield donated by the Port Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, competitors will also have a chance to try for six handsome trophies for the first three teams to finish.

The cups will remain in the possession of the individuals winning the same, while the shield has to be won three years in succession before becoming permanent possession of the winner.

At a meeting of a special committee presided over by Leslie F. Osborne, president of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, it was decided that in the interests of safety each canoe must have a suitable motor boat convoy and in addition will be required to follow a course set out by a coastguard boat provided for this purpose.

Efforts are being made by the Junior Chamber to assist competitors to get convoys for the occasion, but it was specifically stated that unless contestants have a convoy they will be barred from the race.

Governor Clarence D. Martin of the state of Washington has been approached to act as starter for the race, while an international flavor will be added to the event by having Premier T. D. Pattullo act in an honorary capacity.

Entry blanks and copies of the regulations governing the race and further information may be obtained at the office of the Chamber of Commerce, Arcade Building, Government Street.

Entries will close at 5 o'clock, Thursday, September 5.

Lawn Bowling

In the Wilkerson Shield competition, open to any pair in Greater Victoria and played annually at Beacon Hill on the greens of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club, E. Myers and W. Davidson, Burnside, defeated D. Dewar and A. McKeachie, Victoria, 21 to 15. E. Myers played a stellar lead and the Burnside pair dominated the game throughout.

Many sparkling plays were made by McKeachie, but the end seemed inevitable almost from the start with the score a fair indication of the play. This is the second time W. Davidson has been in at the finish in this competition, winning also with A. W. Stewart in 1932.

In the club rinks R. Dowswell, A. S. Huxtable, C. W. Childs and C. Collinge defeated F. R. Exham, E. Akhurst, W. G. McLaren and W. H. Youhill, 26 to 17. This event is now down to the semi-finals.

W. W. Cross beat A. S. Huxtable 21 to 8 in the novice singles, and in a game for possession of the McMartin button J. A. Macdonald beat E. F. Fox 18 to 16, making this the first time the button has been won twice by the same player.

In the veterans' singles R. Dowswell beat F. R. Exham 21 to 11, and W. G. McLaren beat G. V. Greenhill 21 to 10.

Brunsdon's Boys To Meet Cafemen

Brunsdon's Boys, Vancouver Island softball champions, will oppose the Poodle Dog Cafe nine this evening at 6.10 o'clock at the Athletic Park in a final replay tussle for possession of the Clearihue Cup, emblematic of the city championship. Tommy Johnson, ace mound artist will work on the slab for the Cafemen, with Henry Harris at the receiving end. It is expected that "Red" Palmer, snappy hurler, will go to the mound for the Brunsdon's Boys. Bob Whyte and John Watt will be the umpires.

U.S. TENNIS MEET STARTS

Players From Nine Nations Seek Championships at Forest Hills

Forest Hills, N.Y., Aug. 29.—Leading racquet wielders from nine nations converged on Forest Hills to-day in quest of the United States men's and women's singles championship.

Britain's Fred Perry, world's No. 1 ranking player, will not get into action in defence of the title he has won the last two years until to-morrow, but Helen Jacobs, champion of the women for three years, drew as her first-round opponent, Mrs. H. Walter Blumenthal, New York.

Sixty-six matches were listed for the opening day. Thirty-four in the men's division will cut the field to sixty-four players for the second round while thirty-two will slice the women's field exactly in half.

Three Montrealers constituted Canada's threat in the men's division. They were Laird Watt, Robert Murray and Henri Emard.

In the women's division, the members of the British Wightman Cup team formed a serious challenge to the home-breds. Canada's entrants were Jean Burritt, Toronto, Effie Billing, Montreal, and Diana Pope, London, Ont.

Wally Moses Rated Outstanding Rookie

Brilliant Outfielder of Philadelphia Athletics Awarded Honors For This Season; Castleman, New York Giants, Leading Rookie Pitcher

New York, Aug. 29.—The cheerful bit of news to-day for Wally Moses, sensational young outfielder of the Philadelphia Athletics whose career was abruptly checked by an arm fracture, is that the baseball experts consider him the outstanding major league rookie of the 1935 season.

This distinction goes to the Texas League recruit on the merits of his freshman performance in rivalry with one of the greatest crops of first-year regulars developed in a blue moon. Exactly twenty-eight players, playing regularly this year for the first time, received mention in a pool conducted by the Associated Press to determine opinion on the outstanding rookies.

FINE PERFORMANCE

Moses received twenty-eight votes of sixty-three cast by major league writers. Moses, who broke into the A's lineup on opening day and had a batting mark of .326 for eighty-five games when he broke his arm in Chicago nearly two weeks ago, enjoyed a comfortable margin over all other flychasers, including Hank Leiber of the New York Giants, who collected fourteen votes.

Clydell Castleman, young righthander of the Giants, was voted the year's outstanding rookie pitcher in a close contest with Pittsburgh's brilliant Darell (Cy) Blanton. Castleman won twenty-four to nineteen, and was the nearest rival of Moses in total vote.

Tied for honors as the American League's freshman pitching aces, in the opinion of the experts, are two members of the Chicago White Sox, John Whitehead and Vernon Kennedy.

BILLY EASTER IN TRACK WIN

Surprises to Capture Handicap at Opening of Hastings Park Racing

Vancouver, Aug. 29.—The lightly-weighted Billy Easter, with Jockey Young up, surprised the punters yesterday by pulling away from the much thought of Adam Somers in a stretch drive to capture the C.P.R. Handicap, feature event on yesterday's programme at Hastings Park.

Ruby Stone found her heavy impost of 120 pounds too much to keep up with the leaders but finished third.

The winner paid $14.25, $5.90 and $4.25.

The veteran Victoria gelding, little Jim Rogan, started a programme which was destined to conclude with surprises, by defeating Marion Eaton, Evelyn May and the fast-closing Edison in another stretch drive in the opening event.

Vancouver, Aug. 29.—Athletics downed Arnold and Quigley, 2 to 1, yesterday evening, to take their second straight victory in the best of five semi-final series of the senior baseball play-offs.

Ralph Stong, whose heavy hitting gave the A's the decision in the first game Monday night, hit for the circuit with the bases empty in the second inning, for the first run of the game.

The Clothiers tied it up in the fourth but a double and a single gave the Athletics the winning run in the sixth.

JOCKEY NEVES IS SUSPENDED

Set Down By Longacres Officials For Rough Riding; Also Fined $100

Seattle, Aug. 29.—Jockey Ralph Neves, who at this moment leads the American turf's pilots with upwards of 150 victories for the year of racing and also happens to be the kingpin of the jockeys riding on the Pacific Coast, has ended his 1935 season at Longacres.

Yesterday afternoon the temperamental ex-caddy from South San Francisco, one of the finest boys yet developed on the Pacific Coast in the point of natural riding ability, was suspended for the remainder of the Longacres summer season and fined $100 extra for insubordination.

The drastic ruling against Neves came shortly after he had finished riding Uleadus, the favorite, in the second race and in which event Neves was guilty of foul riding. When confronted by Chairman Edwin J. Brown of the Washington horse racing commission, who was acting in the capacity of presiding steward in the absence of William A. Quigley, the latter having departed for Detroit, Neves became insubordinate, the $100 fine being added to his suspension.

St. Louis Moves Two and Half Games Ahead In National

Cardinals Beat Phillies Twice; Giants Drop Two

World Champions Mark Up 5 to 1 and 13 to 5 Wins; Cubs Split Pair

ROOKIE PITCHES DETROIT TO WIN

The recent performances of a couple of young pitchers are helping to strengthen the impression that the St. Louis Cardinals and Detroit Tigers again will meet in the world series this fall.

The Cards have Ed Heusser, who was almost relegated to the minors this season but stayed to become an important factor in their drive to first place. The Tigers have Roxie Lawson, who was farmed out to Toledo and came back a few days ago to give the regulars a hand.

Heusser got the call as a starting pitcher when the Cards were battling the New York Giants and with some help from Dizzy Dean he turned in a smart victory. He's started twice since then, pitching a nice game against the Boston Braves and then checking the Phillies yesterday to help the Cards along to a double triumph that put them two and one-half games ahead of New York.

SMART HURLING

Heusser gave the Phils just eight hits in winning the opener 5 to 1 and would have had a shutout if George Watkins hadn't belted a homer in the first inning.

After that triumph the Cards went on to hammer out a 13 to 5 decision, coming from behind with a great nine-run rally in the sixth.

Meanwhile the second-place Giants took a double drubbing from Pittsburgh's Pirates, losing 6 to 1 to Cy Blanton's five-hit tossing, then going down 9 to 5 when Earl Grace slammed a boundary belt with the sacks jammed to overcome an early New York lead.

Lawson, who made his debut last week with a five-hit shutout of the Boston Red Sox, blanked the Philadelphia Athletics with four blows yesterday while the Tigers won 11 to 0.

Detroit's lopsided triumph didn't increase the Tiger lead as the Yankees, after dividing thres bargain bills with Chicago, trimmed the White Sox n both ends of the fourth, 9 to 1 and 5 to 2.

The Chcago Cubs lost a great chance to overhaul the Giants in the National League struggle when they divided a twin bill with the Braves. Wally Berger's twenty-eighth homer and Ben Cantwell's four-hit flinging gave Boston a 2 to 1 decision in the opener, but Chicago came back behind Lon Warneke to win 5 to 2.

Brooklyn won the National League clash, beating the Cincinnati Reds 4 to 2 in a flinging duel between Ray Benge and Paul Derringer, but only 503 cash customers were there to see it.

The Cleveland Indians took a firmer hold on third place in the junior circuit, beating the Red Sox 2 to 0 as Thornton Lee outpitched Bob Grove, then winning 3 to 1 behind Mel Harder. Washington and St. Louis divided their twin bill, the Senators batting out a 10 to 2 triumph behind Ed Linke and the Browns winning a speedy second game 2 to 1 as Ivy Andrews and Jack Russell both pitched six-hit ball

COAST LEAGUE

The San Francisco Missions may sometimes be slow in warming up—but when they do warm up, they're hot. Seattle found this out in a Coast League game yesterday evening.

The teams were tied at 8 to 8 at the end of the regular playing period. Four innings more they battled scoreless until the Missions came to bat in the fourteenth. Then this happened.

Mike Frankovich slammed a homer into the bleachers. Fred Berger hoisted another one over the left field fence. Clyde Beck singled. Ray Mort singled, Edie Joost singled, scoring Beck. Joost later came home on a med throw for the fourth run, to clinch a 12 to 8 win.

The victory secured the Missions in second place, but San Francisco already had made sure of the top spot by beating Oakland 4 to 2.

Portland slipped down the percentage column when they were blanked 2 to 0 by Hollywood.

Sacramento and Los Angeles staged a wild batting spree, with the Senators coming out on the long end of a 12 to 10 score.

LOCAL STAR WINS B.C. QUARTER AND HURDLES LAURELS

ADDISON DOUBLE VICTOR

Using his break to its best advantage, Addison took one of the smartest races of the day as he beat "Mush" Limon, Vancouver, in the quarter to win the rubber event between that pair, two to one this season. Starting on the rail, Addison flashed out in front and stayed ahead as Limon pounded on his heels. Limon tried to step up the pace half way around, but could not get past the local runner. He trailed most of the way by about six feet, but slipped away as Addison turned on the heat on the last bend and Joe floated in twenty-five feet in front in fifty and one-fifth seconds. Had he been pressed on the last stretch he would have cracked forty-nine.

Jack Harrison, Vancouver police, never a challenger, was third.

Addison scored his second triumph in the hurdles as he skimmed the barriers with a technique his rivals did not know, to coast home a good fifteen feet ahead of Ralph Shepherd, young local high boy. Earl McCoomber, Vancouver, was given third when Bill Hibbert was disqualified for knocking down too many timbers.

GOOD TWO-TWENTY

Shut out in the century, Howie McPhee staged a neat comeback in the two-twenty. He won his heat handily and lined up with Vince Forbes, Bob Drummond-Hay, Victoria Y. F. Sutton, Victoria Y. G. Williams, Nanaimo, and Allan Poole, all of whom qualified for the finals.

The field flashed away on the staggered start and rounded the turn to the stretch bunched. Poole seemed tired, but came through with a burst of speed to force McPhee all out as he took a close decision in twenty-three and one-fifth seconds. Vince Forbes, Powell River, was third.

UPSET MILE

Terry Todd, former Brentwood College boy, paved the way for the mile upset as he flashed away at a killing pace. Cunningham, local favorite, trailed him, with Bill Dale in third place and red-headed Hugh Thompson running his own race in fourth place.

On the first quarter, Thompson moved ahead of Dale while Cunningham closed up on Todd. Shortly after the half mark, Cunningham took the lead and Thompson, moving up, took Todd and dogged the pace-setter. Dale was running an easy fourth, well back.

Cunningham stepped up the pace about 200 yards from the finish, trying to fight off the Nanaimo torch bearer, but Thompson stuck right to him and opened up on the straight away to win by twenty feet, with Dale finishing third, in four minutes and fifty-three seconds.

CHAPMAN WINS

Pulling on his spikes for the first time in competition since last Labor Day, Art Chapman, competing for the Y.M.C.A., scored a surprise win in the high jump. Chapman took the laurels with a mark of five feet seven inches, low for a championship but good for an athlete who has been out of the game so long.

C. Williams, Duncan, hurled his weight twenty-one feet two and one-eigth inches to win the broad jump honors, with Bill Hibbert of the Navy finishing second and Art Chapman third.

After placing second to R. Waters, Vancouver Athletic Club, in the discus, Bob Dixon won the shot put with a mark of thirty-eight feet four and three-quarter inches and, as visiting spectators started their sprint for the excursion boat and local enthusiasts started homeward, he hurled the javelin 192 feet 11½ inches for a lopsided win in that event.

Keen races marked the women's division as Virginia Hall, Victoria, took the seventy-five-yard sprint and Margaret Thompson, Nanaimo, running scratch, closed with a pretty spurt to take the 100 yards handicap.

RELAYS

In the relay event Zoe Richards, Eva Mason, Eva Elston and Virginia Hall showed far too much speed for the up-island contingent and won in a walk.

Owen Bentley, Bill Thompson, Paul Rowe and Joe Addison were too fast for the second Y.M.C.A. team in the half-mile relay, billed as a championship.

Jack Harrison, Vancouver Police, shut out in the majority of championship events, came into his own in the police and firemen in uniform race, when Addison declined to compete.

Victoria's police team proved too powerful for the longshoremen in the tug of war, the bobbies winning in two straight pulls.

GOOD RACES

Young tots and civic employees' wives furnished keen competition of a less serious nature in their special events, while civic employees over forty-five showed there was life in the old legs yet as Hugh A. Lynn led home a fast following field, with Cyril Jones placing second and Harry Anderson, one of the favorites, third.

Throughout the afternoon Sam Winterbottom and Norval Peterson kept the crowd informed on the different events by means of a public address system, while competent officials made a smart job of handling the meet.

The event was a credit to the sponsors and merited the support it received from private individuals who donated prizes and the good crowd which attended.

SCORED TRIUMPHS IN B.C. CHAMPIONSHIPS

Just hitting the tape, on the right of the upper picture, Bill Dale, Victoria Y.M.C.A. and high school star half-miler, is shown living up to expectations in one of the features of yesterday's British Columbia track and field championships at Macdonald Park. Dale ran a heady race to lead Hugh Thompson, Nanaimo, seen behind him, to the finish line in the half mile. Running on the left, Chuck Cunningham, pace-setter for most of the race, is shown striving unsuccessfully to stave off the closing challenge of J. W. Redhead, Powell River, for third place. In the picture on the left, Allan Poole, Kelowna; Joe Addison, Victoria Y.M.C.A., and Paul Rowe, Victoria Y.M.C.A., are snapped just after Sergeant Arthur Bishop, one of the main organizers of the meet, presented them with their awards. The boys finished in that order in the 100-yard sprint. Addison is standing on the left, Poole in the middle and Rowe on the right.

Portland Girl Defeats Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews 1 Up in U.S. Women's Golf; Ada Mackenzie, Toronto, Goes Under 2 and 1 Before Patty Berg

Minneapolis, Aug. 29.—Marion Miley, pride of the Blue Grass meadows of Kentucky, and Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews, Coral Gables, Fla., the girl who always comes close but never can win the most important title, fell in the third round of the national women's golf championship at Interlachen yesterday.

As Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare of Philadelphia, on the trail of her sixth national, and Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Kansas City veteran, overcame stubborn opposition to survive, Miss Miley and Mrs. Crews were stopped after making magnificent rallies.

Charlotte Glutting, the blonde girl who first arose to fame in 1932 by halting the invasion of Enid Wilson, England's great star, defeated Miss Miley, 3 and 1, while Marion McDougall, twenty-one-year-old brunette from Portland, Ore., eliminated Mrs. Crews on the final green, 1 up, in a heart-breaking finish for Maureen.

TAKES MATTERS EASY

Mrs. Vare, playing leisurely and just good enough to stay ahead, turned in the next to largest margin of victory in the day's round, defeating Pritizi Stifel, Wheeling, W.Va., 4 and 3. Mrs. Hill, held even for eleven holes in a great putting battle, defeated Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, Fort Worth, Tex., the former Amelia Gorczyca, 2 and 1.

Joining them in the quarter-finals as the mercury stood in the fifties were Elizabeth Abbott, Los Angeles, who beat men's par by two shots on the front nine with a 35 to take a wide lead over Mrs. Austin Pardue, Minneapolis, the golfing parson's wife, and ultimately rout her, 6 and 5.

Beatrice Barrett, twenty-two-year-Minneapolis girl, turned back Mrs. Charles Newbold, Wichita, 2 up; Mrs. Dan Chandler, Dallas, conquered Patricia Stephenson, Minneapolis, 2 and 1, and Patty Berg, seventeen-year-old darling of the Interlachen home club, defeated Ada Mackenzie, Toronto, 2 and 1.

Further Matches In Junior Tennis

WANT WORK TO AVOID FLOODS

Langford Residents Petition City to Enlarge Culvert at Overflow

Residents of Langford Lake to-day petitioned the City Council to enlarge the culvert under the Esquimalt Waterworks pipe line, where it crosses the overflow from the lake, in an effort to eliminate flood conditions along the shore.

The petition, endorsed by twenty-three residents, asked for immediate action.

To prove their statement the culvert was of an inadequate size, the residents stated the water on the lake side of the pipe during certain months of the year, was from a few inches to a few feet above the water level on the opposite side. That, they claimed, was conclusive proof the culvert was too small to carry away the water in order to eliminate the flooded conditions at certain times.

The petitioners stated the costs of enlarging the culvert to the proper size would be very small.

It would be necessary to do the work immediately since it could not be carried out later when the water had risen to any great extent, the petition said.

EAT TONS OF ICE CREAM

Victoria Kept Cool by Consuming 500 Gallons Yesterday

Two and one-half tons of ice cream went to cool the palates of Victorians when the temperature was soaring around 90 in the shade yesterday.

Five hundred gallons of ice cream were prepared and dished up by the dairies, drug stores, soda fountains and ice cream stands throughout the city.

One drug store alone reported selling 150 gallons of ice cream.

The manager of one dairy said that he was able to get rid of ice cream just as fast as he made it.

Though ice cream rules the roost as the greatest of summer delicacies, the cone has fallen from public favor. Ice cream on a stick has usurped its throne.

Dull weather to-day cooled off the ice cream business and sales in some cases dropped off 70 per cent.

ADMITS SERIES OF FORGERIES

Frank Stevens Pleads Guilty to Signing Names of Victorians on Cheques

The forging of the names of four Victoria business men to five different cheques for which he received cash from local grocery merchants, was admitted by Frank Stevens, no fixed address, in the City Police Court this morning. He was remanded until to-morrow morning for sentence.

The names forged were those of William Munsey, A. J. Fouracre, A. E. Cox and P. J. Sinnott.

In all instances the names of the men to whom the cheques were made were fictitious, police said. The cheques forged were one for $17.50, drawn on the Bank of Montreal by William Munsey, for which he received $16.43 cash from James Little; one for $22.50, drawn on the Bank of Commerce by William Munsey, for which he received $20.48 cash from Brockhurst's Junction Store; one for $15.50 drawn on the Bank of Montreal by A. E. Cox, for which $14.60 cash was received from Stewart's Meat Market; one for $15 drawn on the Bank of Montreal by A. J. Fouracre, for which $12.75 was received from the Kirk Coal Company, and one for $16.50, drawn on the Bank of Montreal by P. J. Sinnott, for which he received $10.50 cash from Batchelor's Warehouse.

The accused elected summary trial in all cases, pleading guilty. He threw himself on the mercy of the court, stating he had no funds with which to procure counsel.

He was arrested by Detectives Walter Calwell and Fearon Woodburn. The sum of $15.43 was found on him when searched by police.

The prosecution requested the remand to discover whether or not there was any previous conviction against him.

January Date For Conference

B.C. Premier Believes Earlier Date Would Not Be Satisfactory

January would be the most acceptable date for British Columbia for the next interprovincial conference, Premier Pattullo stated this morning.

The comment was prompted by the report that Premier Hepburn of Ontario had suggested that the conference be called within two weeks after the federal election.

Premier Pattullo pointed out that two weeks permitted little time for the new government to readjust itself and deal with matters calling for immediate attention when a change of government takes place.

Greater consideration for the subjects the provincial governments sought to discuss at Ottawa would be assured, Premier Pattullo thought, by setting a later date for the conference.

NATIONALIZE CENTRAL BANK

Alan Chambers Speaker Before Audience at South Galiano Island

South Galiano Island, Aug. 29. — "Nationalization of the Central Bank of Canada will be the first duty of the Liberal Administration," said Allan Chambers, Liberal candidate for the federal riding of Nanaimo, speaking here last night. "In a national crisis such as this, the control of the credit of this nation should be in the hands of the nation. Canada cannot begin to handle the unemployment problem on the national basis upon which it must be handled until all the resources of the Dominion are harnessed."

In dealing with trade abuses as they have been laid bare, the speaker believed that the Anti-combines Act as a piece of Liberal Administration must be fearlessly enforced and further that an excess profits act must be enacted to curb the undue profits by corporations in Canada.

Col. Cy Peck, V.C., speaking in support of the candidate, said that in the federal field Liberal administration might always be counted upon to give a stable but progressive government.

He dwelt at some length on the millionaire complex of the Bennett administration.

Both speakers were given an enthusiastic reception by a large audience.

Victoria Display Takes First Prize

The Victoria district display, arranged by J. A. Naysmith, took first honors in the Vancouver exhibition, it was announced by D. D. McTavish, prominent in the floral and field crops section of the Victoria exhibition, to-day. Mr. McTavish was advised of the local victory by wire this afternoon. The report stated the local exhibit had a thirty-four point lead over that of the runner-up. Last year Mr. Naysmith's displays were first both in Vancouver and at the local exhibition.

FIND HISTORIC CORNER STONE

Searcher Locates Corner Piece of Old St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church

Well and truly laid by expert craftsmen of a former generation, the corner stone of the old St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, reported to contain documents of great value to some of Victoria's Masonic lodges, was uncovered by a searcher to-day.

At high noon it had been taken from its resting place for the last sixty-seven years, formerly the north-east corner of the edifice, and placed in the office of Harold Husband, manager of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, who, acting for the owner of the old building recently demolished, had ordered the search.

Arrangements were being made today to have the sealed container resting in the hollowed stone opened with ceremony sometime to-morrow. Pending agreement of high Masonic figures here and other dignitaries who will be asked to participate in the opening of the metal casket, no definite time had been set for the event.

CROWD GATHERS

A small crowd pressed around the workman who conducted the search to-day as news of the find spread about the city. He had laboured for hours in the debris left when the church was demolished to locate the stone which was laid, in accordance with ancient usage and custom, squarely in the northeast corner.

Rumors had spread the stone was missing. Some even stated they had witnessed the removal of the stone from its original site to the new St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on the corner of Douglas and Courtenay Street.

Press files of August 20, 1869, marked the laying of the stone with the following item:

"The Provincial Grand Lodge of England celebrates its foundation by attending divine service at St. John's Church, and the Provincial Grand Lodge of Scotland, assisted by the brethren of England, will lay the foundation stone of St. Andrew's Church at 3 o'clock. We understand that seats around the platform will be provided for the ladies who desire to witness this very interesting ceremony."

BIG MASONIC EVENT

Earlier that month, the files of August 12, 1868, carried the following item:

"The foundation stone of this new building (St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church) will be laid on the twentieth instant at 3 o'clock with great ceremony. It is the intention of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Scotland to take the lead in the ceremonies on this occasion, assisted by representatives from Nanaimo, New Westminster and Washington territory so that it will undoubtedly be the largest Masonic ceremony ever seen in Victoria."

Time and the accumulation of filling material made more difficult the finding of the stone, cut on the square and hollowed in the middle to hold the documents. It was discovered uner the sill of a back door leading into the Vancouver Island Coach Lines building.

International Rotary Lunch

Victoria and Port Angeles Clubs Will Meet Next Wednesday in Straits

Local Rotarians to-day received an invitation from the Port Angeles Rotary Club to take part next Wednesday in an international meeting in international waters along the same lines as that held earlier in the summer by the Kiwanis Club.

Bill Nobles, of the Port Angeles Club, attended to-day's luncheon of the Rotary Club in the Empress Hotel and extended the invitation.

Victoria Rotarians will leave here at 9.15 o'clock on board the ferry Iroquois, reaching Port Angeles at 11 o'clock, where the United States members will board the vessel. The luncheon will be held on the return trip, and the international boundary line will be crossed while the two clubs sit at table together.

Alderman James Adam reported at to-day's luncheon on the outing to Newcastle Island yesterday, organized by the Vancouver club, and in which members of all island clubs took part.

A strong vote of thanks to the Vancouver Rotarians for the entertainment was passed at the luncheon.

The opening date of the Fernie Assizes has been changed from October 14 to October 15.

EL CAPITANS RETURN HOME

California-Western States Life Convention Concluded Here To-day

With the conclusion of this morning's business session followed by a conference of agency managers, the four-day convention of the El Capitan Club of the California-Western States Life Insurance Company was brought to a close.

"Sales presentations—the value of brevity and clarity, the salary continuance canvass, and the bond approach" formed the discussion theme during the forenoon, led by Ray P. Cox, vice-president and manager of agencies and J. W. Pearson presiding.

El Capitans participating in the discussion were Al. W. Branch, J. Roy Chafe, Leon Gardner, Oscar L. Bussell, L. C. Tallman, Wray L. Eggleston and Louis B. Bigler.

President O. J. Lacy, presiding over the farewell dinner last night, intimated that the next convention would be held "somewhere in the south." The hope was expressed, however, that Victoria would be chosen as the meeting place at a not-too-distant date. Speakers at the dinner, held in the Crystal ballroom of the hotel, included Alexander East, George H. Page, Grant Taggart, J. C. Collins and Grover C. Nisser. Dancing commenced about midnight and continued until an early hour.

GOLF CHAMPION

Howard V. Scheffel of Medford, Ore., winner of the El Capitan golf tournament, played over the Oak Bay course, was the recipient of a special prize. He will hold the cup until the next convention tournament.

A United States immigration officer was in attendance at the convention chamber this forenoon to facilitate the passage of the delegates across the border.

TELLS NEED OF SERVICE

Rotarians Hear Short Talk and See Slides of Activities of Club

From banker to bootblack, every man in business depended on service for his success, J. W. Maynard Jr. told members of the Rotary Club at their luncheon to-day in the course of a fifteen-minute talk on "The Spirit of Service."

Calling service "the keynote of present-day merchandizing," Mr. Maynard split the word into its seven letters and used each for other words as follows:

Smiles, energy, reliability (of statement), voice, initiative, courtesy and enthusiasm.

How Rotary Clubs in almost every country of the world were putting the ideals of Rotary into effect was shown in a series of slides displayed by George I. Warren.

Mr. Warren stated that much of the expression of these ideals could not be shown in picture, such things as mass feeling and the spirit of friendship being impossible to record.

Scenes shown included a soup kitchen in Spain, distribution of clothing to poor children in Peru and Czechoslovakia, an orphans' home in Japan, model dwellings in India, a warning statue in connection with a safety campaign in Lima, Peru; a shoe repair shop in Pennsylvania, a toy repair shop in Shanghai, care of old people in the Federated Malay States, distribution of white canes to the blind in Spain, a colony of lepers in the Philippines, a permanent camp for boys in Porto Rico, public playgrounds in Guatemala and Cuba, dinners for unprivileged children in Manila, Australia, Hungary and Mexico; free treatment of sick children of all nations at Vichy, France; an international boys' camp in Austria, care of crippled children in Ohio, scout camps in various parts of the United States, a boys' band in California, a hobbies fair in Ohio and the care of prisoners of war from the Paraguay-Bolivia conflict in Buenos Aires.

Early this morning while fishing in the company of Roger Montieth, Wallace MacMillan, Winnipeg; A. Dalby and Bobby Smith, Stanley Gill landed a thirty-five-pounder at Brentwood.

The catch for the morning, including a twenty-pound button fish by Wallace MacMillan, totaled a score. There were several fish landed ranging from fourteen to eighteen pounds.

Brentwood is the sportsman's paradise these days where there is a big run of fish on.

A FEELING OF GLADNESS THAT YOU are alive and all that is wrong can be made right is an easy way to open the door to brighter fields of activity. It's important to keep the body spick and span by use of our coarse whole wheat bread, our rye bread, our Roman Meal bread, or some of our other building foods. Call daily and enjoy them—they are good. Golden Loaf Bakery, 711 Fort St.

A SATISFYING READING—ALL PROBlems; expert service. Studio, Balmoral Hotel.

AN ATMOSPHERE OF PLEASURE AND comfort may be enjoyed as you eat the good eats at the Mayfair Cafe, 1011 Broad St., at Fort.

DON'T BLAME IT ON "THAT STUFFY classroom," or that pastry he had at dinner. One child of every five suffers headache, nervousness and digestive disorder because of uncorrected defective vision. Have his eyes examined; it is the one way of getting to the real trouble. Joseph Rose, optometrist, 1013 Government St. E6014.

IT IS A FACT THAT MANY PEOPLE who could at one time have had their eye trouble corrected very easily defer having their eyes examined until correction becomes much more difficult and tedious. The truth about your eyes is very much worth while. Joseph Rose, optometrist, 1013 Government St. E6014.

LEAFS AFTER GOODFELLOW

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Although Conny Smythe manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs, would not confirm the report, it was stated here to-day the club was after the services of Ebbie Goodfellow, star defence and centre star of the Detroit Red Wings.

Smythe said he was in the market for several players to bolster his National League club, but added it was a little early yet to talk hockey.

The report regarding Goodfellow, stated Jack Adams, manager of the Wings, was willing to part with the big fellow, but had asked for "Hec" Kilrea, left winer, and "King" Clancy, defenceman, from the Leafs in return. The Toronto club are reported to have offered Kilrea and Andy Blair in the trade.

Urges Council Of Professions

R. L. Maitland, K.C., Vancouver, Addresses Canadian Bar Association

By SAM G. ROSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Winnipeg, Aug. 29.—Indictment of quacks and unqualified persons and corporations in the field of the professions was voiced by R. L. Maitland, K.C., Vancouver, in an address to the twenty-first annual convention of the Canadian Bar Association here yesterday.

Urging action to safeguard the professions from unfair and unethical competition, Mr. Maitland proposed formation of a Dominion-wide council of professions which would draw its membership from lawyers, doctors, dentists, engineers, etc. Such action, he said, was vital to the welfare of those engaged in the professions.

INVASIONS SEEN

The right of the professions to be left alone in their own field was stressed by Mr. Maitland. There was a very unfair invasion of the professions by the public and the legislatures, he declared. The professions should have the right to practice, free from unfair interference and unethical and unscrupulous competition.

Men in the professions—medicine, dentistry, law, etc.—had spent many years of study before becoming qualified to practice, and despite safeguards there was encroachment by unqualified persons on the rights of members in their profession to the detriment of the public. Lack of understanding by the public fostered the encroachments, Mr. Maitland said.

Mr. Maitland mentioned specifically the practice of "ambulance chasing" for suits arising out of accidents and the operations of certain collection agencies. "Ambulance chasing" brought big profits and "you can usually count on this kind of profiteering fast amounting to a racket," he said. Action should be taken to prevent the practice, he said.

Big Three Grid Schedule Is Set

Vancouver, Aug. 29.—A. Lowe, president of the British Columbia Canadian Football Union yesterday announced the Big Three Canadian Football schedule will be completed by the last week of October.

The Vancouver Athletic Club team, Meralomas and North Shore will play a home and home series for the B.C. title and will be prepared for the interprovincial playoffs by the first week of October, in accordance with the policy of the Canadian Union in scheduling Dominion playoffs two or three weeks earlier than last year.

CHRISTY WINS BOUT

Christy weighed 133, Feldman 132½.

JANET GAYNOR AT PLAYHOUSE

Plays Opposite Warner Baxter in "One More Spring," Opening To-day

"One More Spring" is the current success at the Playhouse Theatre, with Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter in the starring parts.

In "One More Spring," a girl and two men make a "gentleman's agreement to keep their relations impersonal throughout a winter, while they live in an old park toolhouse. It is a compact that sends two men and a girl on a strange adventure that comes to a resolution when spring brings romance and the end of the agreement.

Supporting the principals in the cast of this Fox Film production, which was adapted from the best-seller of the same name, are Walter King, Jane Darwell, Roger Imhof, Grant Mitchell, Rosemary Ames, John Qualen, Nick Foran and Stepin Fetchit.

On the same programme as a second feature is "Stolen Sweets," starring Sally Blane.

RICHARD DIX AT COLUMBIA

Salisbury Field's story starts with the dad-and-daughter dilemma of Philip Eden and eight-year-old Alice. Philip sacrifices the pleasures of life on the altar of fatherhood. He divorces cold and calculating Florence. He deserts an inamorata, Bernice. He gambles recklessly for Alice's happiness. When Bernice jealously intervenes, Philip accidently kills her. He is sentenced to fifteen years.

"Accent on Youth" to Open To-morrow

Without losing one bit of its bubbling gaiety or its charm in the process, "Accent on Youth" has been transformed from the hit comedy of the Broadway stage to the most delightful film of the season. It will be on view at the Dominion Theatre to-morrow. Sylvia Sidney and Herbert Marshall re starred in this quaintly humorous story of a man over forty who fell in love.

If anything, "Accent on Youth" has gained by the metamorphosis. No two more charming actors for the principal roles could be imagined than Miss Sidney and Herbert Marshall. While in the supporting roles are Phillip Reed, who acted in the Los Angeles version of the play; lovely Astrid Allwyn, Holmes Herbert and Ernest Cossart, who brings his inimitable "Flogdell" from Broadway to Hollywood.

The story of "Accent on Youth" centres about Herbert Marshall's search for love. A playwright in his advancing forties, he worries so about the possibility that he has lost love forever that he writes a play about a man in his plight.

Just as he is about to run off with another woman, his secretary, Sylvia Sidney, blurts out the fact that she loves him. So amazed is Marshall, that he can think of nothing better than to offer her the leading role in his play.

Fractional Gains In Quiet Session At Wall St. Mart

Associated Press

New York, Aug. 29.—Stock market prices rallied to-day in trading that was exceptionally quiet.

Gains of a fraction to a point or so were registered by virtually all groups except the oils. The latter were somewhat backward.

It was one of the smallest turnovers for a full session in more than a month. The activity was of the usual pre-holiday type and little importance was attached to the low volume.

Grains and cotton furnished no clues to equities. U.S. government securities turned firm following an early dip. Other loans were inclined to improve. Foreign gold currencies eased in terms of the dollar.

Scattered selling in oil stocks reflected the unsettlement of the California crude situation and reports of gasoline price cutting in the east.

Columbia Pictures shares got up about five points at one time, but subsequently shared this advance. Other gainers of fractions to a point or so included U.S. Steel and Bethlehem Common and Preferred, American Telephone, Chrysler, General Electric and Westinghouse.

Late-session Sales With Prices Lower On Winnipeg Market

Winnipeg, Aug. 29 (Canadian Press)—Late session selling unsettled wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day, after futures had held steady throughout most of a quiet day. Values closed 1 to ¾ cent lower, August at 84, October 82⅞ and December 82⅛.

Trading throughout was dull and offerings light. Some support was apparent from seaboard houses but export business was small and no figure was given.

Liverpool closed ⅛ to ⅜d lower, while Buenos Aires was ⅜ cent higher. Chicago was about unchanged.

Deliveries to country points in western Canada yesterday totaled 1,247,000 bushels, compared with 3,354,000 bushels on the corresponding day last year.

In cash wheats, shippers were taking number 4, 5 and 6 at unehanged spread.

Chicago, Aug. 29 (Associated Press)—The downward trend of the wheat market was halted at least temporarily to-day as fresh advices from the Canadian prairie provinces indicated grain losses from rust, hail and frost damage might exceed expectations.

The rallying power of wheat was comparatively weak, but lighter offerings gave the market a firmer tone near the close, with some buying credited to milling interests. The approaching holiday and September delivery period tended to restrict trade.

Wheat closed ⅜ cent lower to ¼ higher, December 89-89⅛, and corn was ½ off to ⅜ up, December 56¾-⅞. Oats were ¼ down to ⅛ up, rye ⅛ off, barley unchanged to 2 cents higher and provisions were higher.

Premier Advances 8 Cents In Early Vancouver Session

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 29.—Premier continued to climb in the morning session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day, coming out for a further advance of 8 cents at $1.65.

LONDON MARKET

London, Aug. 29.—Traders were mostly occupied with the week-end settlement of accounts and cheerful tone prevailed on the stock exchange to-day. Further gains took place in industrials and especially iron, steel and aviation shares. Transatlantic issues were quiet while rubber and oils eased. The market closed irregular.

London, Aug. 29.—On a dull market, a small commercial demand to-day sustained the United States dollar and it closed at $4.97 7/16 to the pound as compared with the overnight New York rate of $4.97¾. Gold currencies barely moved and the franc closed unchanged at 75.12 to the pound.

Tarzan The Untamed

Though the great apes roared and menaced Tarzan, they did not attack, and now he stood facing their inner circle. Again he spoke: "Tarzan comes to live with his brothers. Which is it to be—shall he dance the Dum-Dum in peace or shall he kill?"

"I am Go-lat, King of the Apes," screamed the huge bull. "I kill! I kill!" and with a sullen roar he charged the Tarmangani. The girl watched, terrified. In another instant that perfect form would be ripped to shreds.

The man seemed entirely unprepared. The king-ape was almost upon him, with huge hands outstretched to seize him, before Tarzan made a move; but when he did move his quickness would have shamed Ara, the lightning!

The Gumps

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a married woman in my early thirties. Am working in an office in addition to keeping house. I did not give up my position when I married several years ago. It appears that I will have to hold on to it for some years to come, as my husband lost his job and is working only part time, and it takes all of our combined earnings to maintain our home, which we are struggling very hard to buy. I am extremely discouraged for the reason that I want a baby. I do not think that a home is complete without children, but I am tied to my job and there seems to be no escape. Perhaps I have spoiled my husband, and if I gave up my position and had a child, he might scratch harder to find something worth while instead of being satisfied to wait until conditions improve. On the other hand, this may not work out and we may lose our home and everything that we have striven to accomplish. Do you think I should take the chance?

UNCERTAIN.

Answer: It is just as serious a matter to give life as it is to take it. Often it is a greater crime. I do not think that any one has a moral right to bring a child into the world unless they have a fair certainty of being able to give it the necessities of life—enough food to eat, clothes to cover it, a decent home in which it can grow up, and a mother's time and care and attention. Life is hard enough at best even when we get off to a fair start. It is a terrible thing for those who are handicapped from their very birth by lack of food and education and opportunity and who have to battle with the world from their cradle.

Of course, there are those who will tell you of how often genius springs from the gutter, and of how many men and women who snatched crusts from the garbage cans in their childhood and whose little backs were covered with rags, have achieved fame and fortune, now feast on terrapin and champagne and are clothed in broadcloth and velvet. But the geniuses are very few, and the streets are filled with poor little waifs who sleep in doorways and hunt for their food like starving dogs.

I agree with you that no home is complete without children in it and I sympathize with your desire for a baby, but you must decide for yourself whether you can offer a little stranger enough grade-A milk and spinach to nourish him and a warm cot to sleep in before you invite him to be a permanent guest.

Some men are ruined by their wives working outside the home. When they find out that Mary can bring in the bacon as well as fry it, they sit back and let her do it. They have a comfortable place to live in. Three square meals a day. And they can always strike the wife for pocket money. So why should they wear themselves out toiling? These are the ones who look for jobs praying God they will never find them and who become expert pool players and win bowling trophies.

But there are other men who are burnt up at the thought of their wives bearing burdens that they feel they should carry on their own strong shoulders, and whose one desire is to be able to support their wives and stand between them and the hardships of life. And to these the sight of a tired little woman coming home at night so weary she can hardly drag one foot after another, is a goad in their sides that spurs them on to make ever possible effort to succeed.

You will have to decide yourself to which class your husband belongs. If he is one of the Weary Willies, there is no hope that he will ever become a go-getter.

* * * * *

DEAR MISS DIX—I am very much concerned with a religious problem that has suddenly confronted me. The girl I love and to whom I am to be married has all the worth-while attributes I could desire. She takes her religion very seriously and writes me that she is only willing to be married by a preacher of her faith, and that no matter how beautiful I could make her life as my wife she could not be happy unless I consented to this. Her religion exacts certain observances from day to day, week to week, etc.

Now I am very broad-minded in matters of religion, but her insistence on her own church has made me feel that what I once regarded as a molehill is now a mountain, and that in her pursuit of her respective religious inclinations after marriage we would burn a bridge between us instead of behind us. Am I wrong in feeling that it is her place to give me the future welfare not only of her heart and body but also her soul, I mean the religious part of her soul?

BEWILDERED.

Answer: I cannot discuss in this column questions of religious belief. They are too controversial for one thing, and for another they are questions that each individual must settle for himself.

But I will say this: I think it is a great mistake, generally speaking, for the adherents of different faiths to marry if either one, or both, are ardent in their beliefs and if they care especially for their churches. Also, I think it is a mistake for the religious and the non-religious to marry, because there is no other one thing about which people can be so un-Christian as they are about Christianity.

Heaven knows there are plenty of things for husbands and wives to quarrel over without their having at hand all the material to start a religious war at a moment's notice. Not only will people fight over religion quicker than anything else, but they also will be more unfair and unjust about it. A man will marry a woman, knowing that she is devoted to her church, and then badger the life out of her, objecting to her going to its services or taking any part in its activities. A woman will marry a man who is of a different faith from hers and nag him incessantly into giving up his belief for hers. Some of the most pious people in the world make their husbands and wives more miserable than any sinner could.

Hence I strongly advise you against marrying this girl unless you can rise to the heights of letting her worship God according to the dictates of her own conscience.

As for your thinking that you have a right to the control of her soul and the direction of her religious belief, that is preposterous. That is between her and her Maker.

Uncle Wiggily and the Moles

By HOWARD R. GARIS

One day when Uncle Wiggily was sitting in the yard of his lakeside cottage telling Baby Bunty a story, all of a sudden the ground in front of the two rabbits began to lift itself up in a little ridge that seemed to be moving along.

"Oh, look, Unkie Wig!" exclaimed Baby Bunty. "Somebody is digging a little tunnel under the ground. Do you think it's a little rabbit like me?"

"No," answered Mr. Longears. "Rabbits, even baby ones like you, Bunty, don't dig tunnels or burrows that way. We rabbits make a sort of slanting hole down into the ground and then we keep on digging, but we don't come as close to the top as this digger is doing."

"What sort of a digger is this?" asked Bunty.

"This is a mole," said the rabbit gentleman. Just then the mole came up out of his tunnel, breaking through the ground. He sat there moving his rather long nose much as Uncle Wiggily twinkled his.

"Why, that's a mouse!" said Bunty.

"No, I'm not a mouse," said the mole. "It is true I look like one, but no mouse or rat, either, can dig a tunnel underground as fast as I can. Look at my front claws." The mole held up his front legs and, truly, as Bunty saw, they were like little shovels, only the edges had sharp claws on them like the tines of a spading fork.

"Oh, you must be a good digger," said Bunty. "But where are your eyes?" asked the little orphan rabbit. "I can't see your eyes. Are they hidden under your fur?"

"They may be, for all I know," answered the mole, "but we moles haven't any eyes. We are blind. We don't need to see for we always live underground, where it is very dark, and if we had eyes we couldn't use them. Years and years ago we moles may have had eyes. But not using them and not needing them, they sort of faded away, so now we are blind and we wouldn't know what to do with eyes if we had them. Excuse me!" said the mole, suddenly. "I think I hear an angle worm around here. I must get after him."

Then the mole with his strong front claws quickly dug himself down into his tunnel again and away he went in the dark, just under the top of the ground, turning up a little ridge of dirt and grass that was like a long, slender hill.

"AWFULLY CUTE"

"Oh, I think he's awfully cute—that mole," said Baby Bunty.

"Yes, the moles are very clever creatures," said Uncle Wiggily. "But people who make gardens and try to have soft, velvety green lawns don't like them."

"Why not?" asked Baby Bunty.

"Because the moles, digging their tunnels to chase angle worms, which they eat, make ridges and holes that don't look nice on the lawns," said the rabbit gentleman. "That's why gardeners are always trying to catch the moles. But, even though they have no eyes the moles keep out of the way and they can dig after and get out many worms in the darkness of their tunnels."

"I should think the moles would get very dirty," said Bunty.

"The moles have very soft, thick fur and dirt seems to roll off it like water off a duck's back," said Uncle Wiggily. "And now, Bunty, if you will excuse me, I think I'll go look for an adventure," said Mr. Longears. So he hopped away and he had an adventure. I'll tell you about it to-morrow. It will be called Uncle Wiggily in trouble. And I hope the kitchen table doesn't have to wear stockings on its legs this hot weather.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

FRIDAY, AUGUST 30, 1935

Benefic aspects strongly dominate today, according to astrology. The planetary government is remarkably helpful to dwellers on the planet Earth.

This is primarily a time to initiate plans in all lines of business. Under this sway beginnings may be made with rare confidence.

Lawyers have a forecast of great activity along constructive lines. The drawing up of legal papers that launch new enterprises rather than litigation regarding old corporations is forecast.

Engineers and shipbuilders continue under a sign stimulating and encouraging for housing as well as public edifices.

Architects and sculptors are under a sway believed to inspire original work that will make fame for Americans. Cities are to be made beautiful, even though poverty grips many who dwell in them.

Women should find this an important day that inspires activity in public as well as home affairs. The beginning of autumn will bring great responsibilities for Americans who have been preparing for real service.

This is an auspicious day for betrothals. Marriages are to increase in number in the next few months and love rather than any material motive will rule.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of much pleasure and unusual success. Young persons and children should benefit.

Children born on this day are likely to mingle with unusual artistic gifts much personal charm. Subjects of this sign may gain fame, but it may not be lasting.

George F. Root, composer, was born on this day, 1826. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Julian Alden Weir, painter, 1852.

BLAME PILOT FOR DISASTER

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—Error of judgment on the part of the pilot is attributed as the cause of the flying accident at Alta Lake on July 30 in which Dean R. W. Brock of the University of British Columbia, Mrs. Brock, his wife; David Sloan of the Pioneer Mine, and W. R. McCluskey, pilot, were fatally injured, according to a finding of an official investigation made public by the Department of National Defence.

Evidence showed, the report said, that the flying boat was airworthy, although heavily loaded, on its flight. The cause of the accident was deemed to have been an error of judgment on the part of the pilot in attempting a take-off at Alta Lake, some 2,200 feet above sea level, without using all of the available water area and with too short of a run to enable the aircraft to gain sufficient altitude to clear obstructions.

MUSEUM GETS "WINNIE MAE"

Late Wiley Post's Famous Plane Will Hang With "Spirit of St. Louis"

Washington, Aug. 29.—When the Winnie Mae, globe-circling plane of the late Wiley Post, enters the Smithsonian Institution here it will fly on in the Valhalla of distinguished craft of the past.

Tentative plans call for hanging it high up, as if in flight, in the Arts and Industries Building of the National Museum near another history-making plane, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis.

An alternative position under consideration by Paul Edward Garber, head of the section of aeronautics, is in the aircraft building where it might take the prominent place now held by the Bremen, first plane to make the east-to-west crossing of the Atlantic. The Bremen is the property of the City of New York, having been lent to the museum, and may be returned.

In either case the Winnie Mae will be surrounded by distinguished flying neighbors. In the aircraft building are housed, among others, the hull of the NC-4, navy seaplane which made the first flight across the Atlantic in 1919, the Chicago, one of army planes which made the first around-the-world flight, a Spad fighter full of world war bullet holes, two early Custiss planes, the Pusher of the pre-war era and the Jenny, used as a war-time training plane.

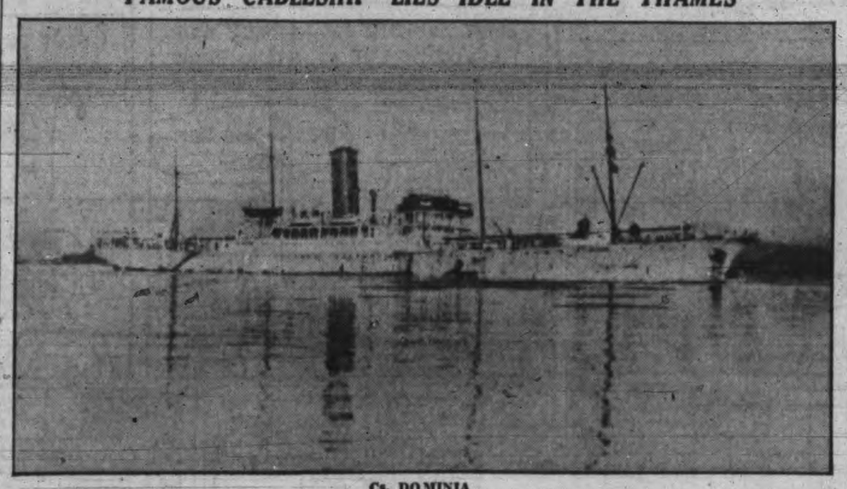
FAMOUS CABLESHIP LIES IDLE IN THE THAMES



Cs. DOMINIA

In the River Thames, not far beyond Tower Bridge, lies one of the world's largest cableships, the Dominia, which some years ago paid a visit to Victoria in the course of a trip around the world. There has not been a job for the Dominia for a long while and she looks quite deserted and desolate as she rides at anchor in sight of the Tower of London. She is rusted and dirty. Only a watchman remains aboard.

NEW CLUB HAD GOOD SEASON

West Bay Corinthian Yacht Club Members Had Fine Sport

The West Bay Corinthian Yacht Club has just completed a successful season of small boat racing in West Bay, Esquimalt.

Ten days' racing took place, competition was close and keen, and throughout the season the weather varied from light to hard sailing breezes, thus providing a fair test for both boats and crews.

The chief contest of the season was for the Corinthian Cup, presented by the honorary commodore, W. W. Aspin, Clyde Corinthian Yacht Club (Scotland). This cup was sailed for in a series of six races, and won by Redwing, twelve foot sloop, from Drusilla and Sombra, fourteen foot sloops, who tied for second place, two points behind the winner.

The honorary vice-commodore's prize, presented by Sir Charles MacAndrew, Royal Northern Yacht Club (Scotland), and the W.B.C.Y.C. challenge cup, phesented by J. G. Niven, were both won by Bonita, sixteen foot sloop, from White Swan and Redwing.

The W.B.C.Y.C. has as its acting commodore, Col. J. Lightbody, D.S.O. T.D.J.P., with Mrs. H. W. Niven as secretary ahd handicapper, and the somewhat unique position of having none but Clyde yacht sailors among its officials, both honorary and acting.

Sloops, 12 to 14 feet: Redwing, ten starts, taking 5 firsts, 2 seconds and 1 third; Sombra, ten starts, 3 firsts, 3 second and 1 first; Drusilla, eight starts, 1 first, 2 seconds and 2 thirds; White Swan, five starts, 1 second and 1 third; Bonita, two starts, 1 first and 1 second.

Redwing is owned by J. E. Casson; Sombra by J. G. Niven, H. G. Niven and J. M. Eberts; Drusilla, by H. Reynolds; White Swan by E. W. Barnes; Bonita by R. H. Woods and A. G. Strood; Lelia III by Mrs. H. W. Niven; Scotia by H. G. Niven and sailed by Miss Eberts.

Official Says Movement Afoot to Color American Seamen "Red"

Associated Press

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the International Seamen's Union of America, to-day termed statements that the union planned a nation-wide strike an attempt to "paint the seamen red" against their wishes.

"If there must be any painting done, I think the time is fast approaching when the seamen might very well consider the advisability of applying a coat of tar and feathers to their traducers," he said.

Olander, in a prepared statement, said Harry Bridges, the so-called "longshore radical leader" of San Francisco, was not authorized to speak for the Seamen's Union.

San Francisco dispatches based on Bridges's statements, said that the seamen contemplated a strike and were collecting a strike fund on the Atlantic coast.

The statements, Olander said, were "brazen falsehoods."

"His (Bridges's) strike claims, as they appear in the public press, are merely an echo of the Darcey statement which was issued from the Communist World Congress in Moscow a few weeks ago," Olander said. "The two are evidently engaged in manoeuvres to color the American seamen 'red,' regardless of the wishes of the general membership of the union."

"The International Seamen's Union of America is not contemplating any general strike," Olander said. "It proposes to continue to conduct itself as an American trade union, and will not permit its members to be misled by Bridges, Darcey or any other wandering soldiers of fortune or political adventurers masquerading as so-called 'labor leaders.'

"There is every prospect that through rational procedure both the seamen and the longshoremen can continue to develop and make further substantial progress as time goes on. The effort to plunge these men into a nationwide strike now is simply an effort to destroy their organizations and put them back where they were a year ago, and thus, by sacrificing them, to foment political unrest."
